WEATHER

Partly cloudy, windy and a little warmer today. Thursday, increasing cloudiness and continued warm. Little chance of rain today and Thursday.

Top Of The Morning

WEATHER

Partly cloudy, windy and a little warmer today and tonight. High today in the upper 70s, low tonight near 60. Probability of rain near zero. Winds south to southwest 15 to 25 miles per hour, and increasing to up to 30 miles per hour tonight. Outlook for Thursday, increasing cloudiness and continued warm. Tuesday, high 78, low 50, no precipitation. River level 2.78 feet and falling.

KINZUA DAM REPORT

Pool level 1303.42 feet (desired summer pool level 1328 feet; maximum 1365 feet). Outflow temperature 51 degrees. Upper reservoir 61 degrees. The reading at the Warren gauge 2.82 feet.

WARREN COUNTY

The Citizens Advisory Committee is on record again asking the borough to re-evaluate use of the Municipal Airport property in view of the impending Warren by-pass project.

The 1968 United Fund campaign, though lagging behind the '67 drive, nevertheless reaches an encouraging 76 per cent of the goal with all seven divisions reporting and late returns still to be heard from.

PENNSYLVANIA

Pennsylvania State Secretary of Banking says his department will propose a "badly needed" overhaul of the state's 110-year-old usury law during the 1969 session of the state legislature.

The state's scholarship program is said to suffer from a "lack of communications" between those administering it and students.

A charred skeleton found on a pile of burned tires in a lover's lane is identified as that of a German girl.

THE NATION

Vice President Humphrey reserves one hour of television time Sunday night for a three-way debate. Nixon does not reply to the invitation but Wallace says he'll be "glad to accept."

Richard Nixon outlines plans for a campaign windup he calls "Operation Extra Effort" which he predicts will produce the fastest finish in the history of presidential elections.

Apollo 7 opens the door for firm planning on putting three men around the moon on Christmas Day.

Strikes, boycotts and bombings are unsettling schools and colleges in various parts of the nation.

The effort to end school segregation in the South has been a colossal failure, according to the Southern Regional Council.

THE WORLD

Czechoslovak sources report Czech Premier Oldrich Cernik has reached agreement with Kremlin leaders on treaty to station Soviet soldiers in the country.

The battleship New Jersey ranges well up the North Vietnamese coast and blasts away part of a tiny island.

Radio Peking says President Liu Shao-chi, Mao Tse-tung's chief foe, has been stripped of all functions in the Communist party.

SPORTS

The American League drafted players from established clubs to fill the roster of the two new expansion franchises Tuesday. Cleveland and Boston each lost quite a few front-line players, and at least one of them—Boston's Joe Foy—is definitely happy to be leaving his club.

Al Oerter, an old man by Olympic standards, is standing atop the record books with his fourth gold medal today. The 32-year-old veteran shattered the Olympic discus record, while Wyomia Tyus took her second gold medal in women's track. America now has four gold medals.

Though that threatened black boycott of the Olympics by American athletes didn't materialize, Negroes in the U.S. delegation are making their point about their treatment back home in subtler ways.

Lance Alworth is the AFL's offensive back of the week. All he did to earn it was catch nine passes for 182 yards and one touchdown—and he's still after San Diego quarterback John Hadl to throw more his way.

A defensive specialist is the AP's back of the week this time—but nobody's questioning Ohio State's John Tatum's qualifications after the masterful job he did on Purdue's Leroy Kyles.

Three County teams see action this weekend, and all report they're reasonably healthy.

Advisory Group Recommends Airport Property Re-evaluation

By NOEL DODD

The Citizens Advisory Committee Tuesday night went on record for the second time asking the borough to re-evaluate use of the Municipal Airport property in view of the impending Warren by-pass project.

Committee members meeting in Council Chambers agreed to submit a letter to council's Planning Committee and the Borough Planning Commission reiterating their stand originally presented in a letter to both bodies April 24.

Gerald Archibald, committee chairman, said to date no response had been received from either the council committee or borough commission.

The April 22 letter, read again by Mrs. Leatrice Segel secretary, at last night's lengthy session, stated:

"The Citizens Advisory Committee recommends that the Borough Planning Commission and Council's Planning Committee re-evaluate use of the airport property due to the relocation of the highway from the original Master Plan; and further that proper authority be designated to investigate possible removal of the reverter clause governing the property to provide the highest and best use of this area. The committee feels this matter should be settled as soon as possible and prior to construction of the highway (Warren by-pass) because of installation of underground utility crossings."

Air Force Bird Won't Return

CHICAGO (AP) — Elphonso, the Air Force Academy falcon which gave the Navy-Air Force football game the air Saturday when he escaped from his handler, was found Tuesday in the Santa Fe freight yard south of the Loop.

However, the bird was not captured. Elphonso's handler, George Kotsiopoulos, tried to bait the falcon into a net with a live pigeon but Elphonso was already full of pigeon and he spurned the bait.

There are hundreds of pigeons around the freight yard and Kotsiopoulos said as long as they last Elphonso will hang around.

Disruption Unsettles Campuses Across Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Disruption ranging from a teachers strike to campus bombings unsettled the educational process in various parts of the United States Tuesday.

The third teacher walkout of the new academic term paralyzed the New York City school system with its 1.1 million pupils.

The unionized teachers struck Monday in a protest against the administration of community-directed schools in a predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican area of the city.

Student pickets protesting the dismissal of a Negro school official paraded at New York University, scene of two small bomb explosions Monday. Scores of students passed through the picket lines into their classrooms.

An explosion Monday night shattered windows and a door of the University of Michigan's Institute of Science and Technology at Ann Arbor.

building recently was relocated there from the university's Willow Run facility near Ypsilanti which has conducted research under Defense Department contracts.

Police declined to discuss possible motivation for the blast. An earlier one smashed the front door of an Ann Arbor office building rented by the Department of Defense.

In Chicago nearly 25,000 high school pupils took part in a Negro-led boycott of classes Monday but were back in school Tuesday. Organizers of the boycott said it would be repeated each Monday in support of pupil demands which include Afro-American history courses with Negro teachers and school holidays honoring Negro figures such as Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Malcolm X.

A dozen members of the Black Students Union seized a classroom building at the University of California campus in Berkeley.

Humphrey Reserves TV Debate Time; No Word from Nixon

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Richard M. Nixon didn't meet Hubert H. Humphrey's Tuesday night deadline for accepting a challenge to a debate Sunday night on television—but Humphrey left the door open in case his Republican opponent for the presidency has a change of mind.

The vice president reserved one hour of television time on CBS— from 10 p. m. to 11 p. m. EDT— and asked Nixon and third party candidate George C. Wallace to join him in a three-man confrontation. Nixon did not reply to the invitation some three hours after the 5 p. m. deadline for the invitation had passed, Humphrey aides said.

Humphrey had in hand a telegram from Wallace saying he would be "glad to accept" assuming Nixon accepted.

"We have heard nothing from Nixon," said Norman Sherman, Humphrey secretary, who added Humphrey would make use of the time anyway. He said the vice president still hoped that Nixon would pick up the challenge.

The vice president said in remarks prepared for a St. Louis Democratic dinner that in battling Nixon "we are up against a more than 20-million-dollar computerized, televised campaign blitz." And he called Nixon "chicken-hearted" for not meeting him in a debate.

Earlier in Kansas City during a question and answer period with students at Rockhurst College, the Democratic candidate referred to his Salt Lake City speech on Vietnam.

"Now what," Humphrey asked, "did I say in Salt Lake City? I said I would stop the bombing as an acceptable risk for peace—period. That is what I said. . . but I said 'period,' not comma or semicolon. I also said that in making this decision, however, I would look to evidence by word or deed—I didn't say—I said I would look for it, for evidence, by word or deed, directly or indirectly, that North Vietnam should restore the demilitarized zone to its status of the demilitarized area."

"Now—why? Because that is the easiest thing for them to do, because it is an international zone. It means giving up nothing from their own territory."

In the question and answer exchange Humphrey did not include the condition from the Salt Lake speech that "before taking action" he would place key importance on the evidence of Communist willingness to restore the demilitarized zone.

However, a few hours later at a local television interview Humphrey returned to that theme. He stressed that the Salt Lake speech was his position and read the key phrases from notes.

Richard Nixon Predicts Fastest Finish in History

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Third party candidate George Wallace is fading and Democrat Hubert Humphrey has panicked into using "tactics of fear and smear," Republican Richard Nixon said Tuesday.

"Before hitting out at Wallace and Humphrey, Nixon outlined plans for a campaign windup he called 'Operation Extra Effort' which he said would produce the fastest finish in the history of presidential elections."

Nixon assailed Humphrey for suggesting that a Republican victory in the Nov. 5 balloting might lead to cutbacks in Social Security and Medicare.

In a statement issued at a Miami rally before flying on to Greensboro, N.C., and Knoxville, Tenn., Nixon said his Democratic rival was not only distorting the Nixon positions but "is callously raising and playing upon the fears of retired Americans" and is "trying to frighten 20 million Americans into believing a deliberate untruth."

The Republican candidate said, "Humphrey knows as well as I do that no American president is going to destroy the benefits or pensions that retired Americans have earned from a lifetime of work and contribution to their country and society."

Using some of the strongest language he has yet aimed at the Democratic candidate, Nixon said, "In the interest of elementary decency, Mr. Humphrey should put an end to these tactics of fear and smear."

At a news conference on the island of Key Biscayne near Miami, Nixon said of Humphrey: "I think he is panicking now. . . subsequently he is going to swing wilder and wilder."

The GOP presidential candidate said he would not change the tone of his own campaign oratory.

Treaty Reported to Permit Soviets in Czechoslovakia

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Oldrich Cernik of Czechoslovakia agreed with Kremlin leaders Tuesday on a treaty dealing with the basing of Soviet troops in his country, Czechoslovak sources said. It was eight weeks to the day after the Warsaw Pact invasion.

Official confirmation of an agreement was lacking. The Russians sought such a treaty to give final legality to the presence of their soldiers in Czechoslovakia, a Communist ally of 14 million people that had leaned since January toward reforms.

The Czechoslovak informants had no details about the treaty. Though the wording is formulated, signing will be deferred, they said.

They reported Cernik, who returned to Moscow Monday for his fourth visit since the Soviet Union and four orthodox allies dispatched military forces to curb Czechoslovakia's liberalization program, would be heading back soon to Prague.

A communique, relayed abroad by the Czechoslovak news agency CTK, said the two sides exchanged views on certain questions resulting from previous Moscow agreements, "especially as regards the conditions of a temporary stationing of Soviet troops on Czechoslovak territory—as envisaged by the communique on Soviet-Czechoslovak talks held in Moscow Oct. 3-4, 1968."

The Soviet news agency Tass, paraphrasing the same communique, said the topics included "the question of the terms for the temporary stay" of the troops. It reported: "The negotiations proceeded in a spirit of comradeship and businesslike cooperation."

NASA May Schedule Flight Around Moon in December

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON (AP) — Apollo 7, sailing sweet and true into its second hundred hours in space, has opened the door for firm planning on putting three men around the moon on Christmas Day.

A reliable source said Tuesday the flight of Apollo 7 is going so well that high National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials are meeting this week to firm up a date for a flight around the moon. One source set launch day as Dec. 21, this year.

The source said contractors believe they will be able to establish procedures of training and hardware operation in time to make the flight in December. NASA, he said, is "busting a gut" to meet the December date.

"It will all depend upon whether the astronauts can get in enough training to do it," he said. "Everything else will be ready."

The only thing that might block a circumlunar flight for Apollo 8, the next manned mission, would be problems later in the 11-day flight of Apollo 7.

But Apollo 7 was flying in "good shape," according to flight controller Glynn Lunney, although the astronauts are fighting colds.

The crew, Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Walter Cunningham and Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele, took America on a televised tour of the world's highest sick room Tuesday. They ignored their colds long enough to perform some zero-gravity acrobatics.

The spacemen, all needing a shave, cavorted in the weightlessness of outer space while the Apollo television camera carried their antics live to a nationwide audience.

A Little Early

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Radio station WCBM of Baltimore broadcast an hour of Christmas carols from 11 a.m. to noon Tuesday.

"The spirit of Christmas should be in one's heart and not simply on the calendar," said a spokesman for the station.

Population Is Important Factor In Master Plan for County

By WALT ERBLAND

Population characteristics and distribution provide a basis for many of the proposals of the county master plan, particularly the highway and recreation plans.

Warren County like comparable areas of the nation is experiencing a general movement of its population from rural areas to urban centers. The plan notes a second but smaller trend from the heart of urban centers to the fringes.

Although the county will enjoy an increase in population to 56,000 by 1980, Warren Borough's "15,000 friendly people" who actually numbered only 14,505 in 1960 will drop to 14,350.

Pleasant twp., which had a 1960 population of 1,426 will be home to 3,200 by 1980. Other townships which will share the bulk of the population increase are Glade, Sugar Grove, Conewango and Mead twps. West of Warren the borough of Youngsville is expected to have a 1980 population of 3,400 compared to the 1960 census figure of 2,211 and Brokenstraw twp. will reach 2,000.

The plan predicts the rural to urban transition will place a strain on some rural townships that are losing their tax base and that governmental consolidation and shared services may be required to insure that the remaining population will produce enough revenue to provide adequate services.

The shift in population, the master plan says, is resulting in a pattern of corridors, east along Rt. 6 from Columbus to Youngsville and Warren, southeast from Warren to Sheffield, and north from Warren to the New York State line. Continued growth is expected along the New York State line and in the northwestern portion of the county because of the availability of employment centers and the stability of agriculture in that area.

"Problems that usually result from corridor development are the increased expense of providing the necessary community services of water and sewerage, fire and police protection," the plan says.

The county's population is changing more than its location. The fastest growing segment of the population is the age group over 64 years. A trend of increase is also noted in the 5-14 age group. At the same time, an out-migration of residents, ages 12-45, has occurred since 1940. Within this category the age group 25-34 is moving out the fastest.

"This out-migration trend presents a serious problem to the county," the plan says, "as it is an indication that the productive age group and the labor pool are seeking work elsewhere and are therefore leaving Warren County."

Part of the reason for this may be that the rural to urban move necessitated more urban housing, job opportunities and job training that the rural migrant must go elsewhere to find.

OBITUARIES

Miss Bernadette M. Walters

Miss Bernadette M. Walters, 62, of 317 Morrison st., a clerk at New Process Co. for 46 years, died in Warren General Hospital at 7:55 a.m. Tuesday, Oct. 15, 1968. A lifelong Warren resident, she was a member of the Catholic Daughters of America, St. Joseph's Church and the Altar Society of the church.

She was born Sept. 30, 1905 in Warren. Survivors include two brothers, the Rev. Arnold Walters OFM, Paterson, N.J., and Henry R. Walters, Warren; two sisters, Miss Josephine Walters at home, and Mrs. Charles (Bessie) Schulenberg, Dunkirk, N.Y.; a number of nieces and nephews.

A solemn mass of requiem will be celebrated at St. Joseph's Church at 10 a.m. Friday. Father Walters will officiate. Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Leo D. Gibson Funeral Home from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. today and Thursday. There will be a parish rosary at the funeral home at 8 p.m. Thursday.

B. E. Shellin

B. E. Shellin, 78, of 466 Buchanan st., died at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 15, 1968. Peterson-Blick Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements. A complete obituary will be in Thursday's Warren Times-Mirror and Observer.

FUNERAL NOTICES

Mrs. Frank Gerus

Funeral services for Mrs. Frank Gerus (Molly Sagan), 76, who died Monday, Oct. 14, 1968, will be held in the Sage Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Thursday. The Rev. George Campbell, Tidoute Methodist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Tidoute Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. today.

Mrs. Gerus was preceded in death by her husband, Frank Gerus, in 1958.

Survivors include nine children, John Gerus, Tidoute; Ann Howard, Dunkirk, N.Y.; Marie Kardeen, Mentor, Ohio; Walter Gerus, Erie, Pa.; Boris Gerus, Berea, Ohio; Harry Gerus, Watchung, N.J.; Vera Martin, Wycliffe, Ohio; Stella Merkle, Bowie, Md.; Theodore Gerus, Fairview Park, Ohio; 32 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

FUNERAL SERVICES

William Richard Robinson

Funeral services for William Richard Robinson, 50, Tidoute, who died Thursday, Oct. 10, 1968, were held in the Sage Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Monday. The Rev. Robert Zorn officiated, assisted by the Rev. Arthur Fleckenstein. Burial was in Warren County Memorial Park.

The Tidoute Veterans of Foreign Wars conducted services at the grave. Bearers were members of the Tidoute Volunteer Fire Department.

UNUSUAL 'DEMONSTRATION'

Youngsville High School parking lot was the scene of a student demonstration Tuesday night. Musical demonstration, that is, not a protest. The band, girls chorus and twirlers performed for the benefit of an enthusiastic group of horn-blowers who attended on a drive-in basis. Refreshments were served and a free-will offering was taken up. Profits of the demonstration will be used to start a new uniform fund for the band. (Photo by Mahan) discover what services and what it would cost to retain a professional traffic consultant for the purpose of preparing an overall downtown traffic plan.

Chairman Archibald, who represented the advisory committee at the session, said it was agreed by those in attendance that they were not qualified to present a plan to council.

It was at this point that M. Thayne Sando suggested that a meeting be set up between the chamber group with the council committee in an attempt to see what, if any, of the borough's existing traffic and parking plans could be implemented.

He stressed the need for haste, pointing out that a survey by a private consultant could take many months.

Surely some of the traffic and parking recommendations outlined in the plan prepared in 1963 are still applicable, he said.

Plummer F. Collins said he agreed with Sando. "I think we can sit here and strangle on our own traffic while sitting here waiting for a traffic consultant," Collins said.

Several members agreed that implementing any of the proposed parking and traffic circulation plans and then reverting back if they proved detrimental to business would be better than rejecting them before they are even tried.

Jacob Levinson, representing the Warren Borough Parking Authority, reported on the organization's activities.

He said the authority has not yet decided whether a multi-level parking ramp or a ground level parking area will become part of the Liberty Street Urban Renewal Plan.

If it's decided to go to a multi-level ramp a feasibility study will be necessary, he said. Levinson reported on authority activities throughout the entire business area, including the proposed parking lot development on the Eastside.

He explained the authority is in "good" financial shape. Financing through banks and not having to float bond issues is one reason for the authority's financial stability, he said.

N. Plue Wendelboe reported that Phase I of the Urban Renewal Plan is progressing as planned. He said he didn't anticipate any major changes in the overall Liberty Street plan.

Mrs. Segel outlined her feelings on how best the Warren Borough Master Plan can assist in the better redevelopment and future growth of Warren and its suburban areas.

LIGHTER GOLF CLUBS

CHICAGO (AP) — Golfers, who avidly seek new aids for their game, now are turning to aluminum-shafted clubs.

"And they love them," said Mark Cox, president of the PGA and Burke-Whittington, a subsidiary of Victor Comptometer Corp.

"Aluminum shafts have caused the greatest flurry in the pro shops in the past few decades. Everyone seems to want them."

The shafts are 1/2 ounce lighter than the steel shafts that replaced hickory shafts. One-quarter ounce is added to the weight of the club head, so that the over-all club is 1/4 ounce lighter than previous clubs.

Political Pollsters Agree They May Be Wrong This Year

(C) N. Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON—The political pollsters are in agreement that there is a greater chance that their polls may be wrong this year than at any time since 1948—when the major polls all incorrectly predicted that Thomas E. Dewey would defeat President Truman.

The pollsters remain confident, nonetheless, that the odds are overwhelming that they will call the outcome of this year's election correctly.

But as they come down the home stretch to their final pre-election polls—the ones that make or break their reputations with the public—they are bothered by uncertainties. Among them are these:

—An increasing number of persons, particularly in the largest cities, are simply refusing to be interviewed by the polls, and no one knows how to allocate their votes.

—The techniques the pollsters use for screening out persons who will not actually vote and for allocating the undecided voters were all developed in two-candidate races and may not be valid in a three-candidate race.

—What appears to be a widespread lack of enthusiasm for any of this year's candidates may mean a higher-than-usual possibility of last minute switches, if there is any kind of last-minute campaign issue or disclosure.

Of the polling organization heads interviewed by the New York Times, only one, Albert Sindinger of Sindinger & Co., stated flatly "I think the polls could be wrong this year."

Sindinger fears this primarily because he does not think the polls can predict the actual behavior of voters who like George C. Wallace best for "President" but do not believe he can be elected.

Doubts of a somewhat lesser order were expressed by Louis Harris and George H. Gallup, whose polls are the two most widely published national political surveys.

Harris observed that "polls have been wrong in the past and they will be wrong in the future—and this may be the year. But there is a better than 90 per cent chance that they are right."

Gallup noted in a recent speech that his organization's polls have averaged an error of only 1 1/2 per centage points on the size of the winning party's vote in national elections beginning with 1951. But he said he thought the Gallup poll would "be lucky" to hold its error to less than four points this year.

An error of the full four per centage points that Gallup and others always name as the outer range of probable error really means a possible error of as much as eight per centage points on the difference between one candidate's vote and the other.

The four per cent figure that he and the other pollsters use relates solely to the vote of the winning candidate.

But if the four points are taken away from the winner's vote and added to the loser's vote, the resulting change in the difference in vote between the two candidates is not four per cent but twice that—or eight per cent.

This bit of arithmetic—the fact that the admitted error in the polls is twice as large as the public usually understands it to be from the way the pollsters put it—may have some significance this year, most pollsters admit.

There has been a general feeling among the public that the lead that Nixon has over Humphrey is so large that no probable amount of error in the statistics could change the outcome.

This is true when the latest figures of the Gallup Poll are examined. Nixon has the support of 44 per cent of the voters, according to the Gallup survey of late September, while Humphrey has 29 per cent. The margin is 15 per centage points—or too much to be overcome by simple statistical error, if there are no other problems with the poll numbers.

The latest Harris Poll, on the other hand, shows exactly an eight per centage point margin—39 per cent for Nixon to 31 per cent for Humphrey. Thus statistical error alone could conceivably make the outcome predicted by this poll wrong.

All the pollsters regard it as unlikely, however, that the error would reach this eight per cent outer range of probability.

For the pollsters, the public, too, do not really know their samples

The political pollsters, most of whom use samples that range between 1,000 and 2,000 individuals to represent the entire adult population, cite extensive mathematical theory to show that their samples are adequately large.

Officials of the Census Bureau, which runs the largest sample survey in the world—50,000 interviews monthly—agree that the pollsters' much smaller samples are adequate to produce results within the range of error that the pollsters admit.

The Census Bureau experts believe the pollsters may not be using sufficiently precise techniques with their small samples, however.

Census takers call back again and again on persons preselected for their sample who are not at home the first time. To do otherwise, the census experts say, is to distort the sample because the persons who are not at home on a given day or night may, in some way, be significantly different types from those who are at home.

Most political polling organizations make one follow-up call at most. Gallup does not call back at all but, instead, weighs more heavily the answers of people found at home at given time who said they were not usually home at that time.

All the polling organizations interviewed by The Times were touchy when asked what percentage of the households in their sample were never contacted, and some refused to give figures.

Richard Mack, of the Harris organization, admitted that he fails to reach between 10 and 15 per cent of the households in his sample, either because no one was ever home or because his interviewers were refused admission.

Dr. Irving Crespi, a Gallup vice president, said the Gallup poll runs only about eight per cent refusals-to-be-interviewed. But the Gallup figures do not include those who were not at home.

The problem of what to do about people who are at home but refuse to talk to the interviewer "is just killing us," according to Mack. He said it was "particularly bad in New York City, bad in all big cities and particularly in apartment houses." Gallup organization statisticians agreed.

Neither Harris nor Gallup is making any adjustment in the raw survey data for the high refusal rate.

Almost all the modern polling techniques that have given the pollsters confidence in their own results have been developed since the 1948 polling disaster—and 1948 was the last time there were more than two people seriously running for the presidency.

Is it possible that all the new techniques for screening out nonvoters and allocating the undecideds among the candidates just won't work in the three-way race? The pollsters fear this could be the case.

One thing they do not fear—the possibility that some people are lying to the interviewers. To overcome this possibility, most of the major pollsters now use a secret ballot, at least toward the end of the campaign.

The Harris organization switched from verbal polling to the secret ballot in its first October poll, due to be published on Friday. The Gallup organization, which had been using part secret and part oral polling, switched to an all-secret poll with the survey now underway, to be published shortly.

USS New Jersey Unleashes Barrage on V.C. Island

SAIGON — The battleship New Jersey unleashed a 30-minute barrage on a North Vietnamese coastal island from which U.S. planes have been subjected to frequent anti-aircraft fire, the U.S. Command said Tuesday.

The 16-inch guns of the world's only active battleship pounded three-mile square Hon Mat island Monday with shells capable of penetrating 30 feet of reinforced concrete.

Aerial spotters said later that at least one anti-aircraft battery was destroyed and a large chunk of the island itself fell into the Gulf of Tonkin.

Hon Mat is 22 miles northeast of Vinh and 14 miles south of the 19th Parallel, the northern boundary for U.S. planes and warships operating against North Vietnam.

It was the northernmost sortie to date for the 56,000-ton New Jersey, which arrived in the war zone two weeks ago. The ship has been cruising the coast, firing at selected targets, mostly supply routes and areas of concentrated military activity.

While the battleship was hitting Hon Mat, about 100 Air Force B52s attacked enemy base camps and troop concentrations near four key provincial capitals in South Vietnam which are considered prime targets for new enemy attacks.

The cities were Quang Ngai, in the coastal lowlands, Pleiku, capital in the central highlands, Tay Ninh City near the Cambodian border northwest of Saigon, and Can Tho, the capital of the Mekong Delta region in the south.

Fighting has flared on and off around all four cities since mid-August, when a new enemy attack against Tay Ninh shattered a two-month lull.

South Vietnamese military headquarters announced that B52 strikes killed 36 North Vietnamese troops west of Quang Ngai Monday, shortly after the enemy sent 17 rounds of big rockets slamming into the city and a nearby government infantry regiment. Four civilians and four soldiers were killed.

The air campaign against the movement of war supplies from North Vietnam into South Vietnam continued with American fighter-bombers flying 118 missions over the North Monday. Pilots reported at least 21 supply boats, 12 trucks and seven railroad cars destroyed or damaged.

Mayor Thanks Councilmen For City Hall Votes

JAMESTOWN — Mayor Charles B. Magnuson took time out Tuesday to extend his thanks to the nine councilmen who voted in favor of resolutions to acquire land for a new City Hall and giving the go-ahead to create a senior citizens' housing facility in Hotel Jamestown.

"I know these were difficult decisions to make," the mayor said.

Jamestown Boy Is Killed

FALCONER, N.Y. — An 11-year-old Jamestown, N.Y. boy was killed and two other persons injured in a two-car accident near here Monday evening.

Dead is Anthony Fiorella, a passenger in a car operated by his brother, Charles, 17, who is in good condition at WCA Hospital, Jamestown.

The driver of the second car was identified as Mary Rolick, 62, of RD 2, Kane, Pa., who is in satisfactory condition at the hospital.

According to the Falconer-based state police, Mrs. Rolick apparently went through a flashing red light, struck the Fiorella vehicle and went over the top, pinning both boys inside.

Charges are pending completion of the investigation, police stated.

The accident occurred at 10:30 a.m. at the intersection of Route 60 and County Route 19 in the town of Kiantone.

Arraigned On Two Charges

OIL CITY—William Matthew Readmond, of 310 Washington ave., was brought from Warren County Jail by Pennsylvania State Police Monday and arraigned on two charges of burglary of a home in Pleasantville.

Readmond was accused of taking $100 in July and silver antique articles in August from the same house.

When arraigned Readmond pleaded guilty to the burglary of the silver items but not guilty to taking the $100. He was committed to Venango County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

In another charge last month Readmond had entered a plea of not guilty to burglary of a home in Pleasantville and was bound over to court after a preliminary hearing.

In Warren, Readmond pleaded guilty to burglary charges filed by Pennsylvania State Police.

Music Boosters Extend Thanks

The Warren Music Boosters have extended thanks to Warren area residents for support during Music Booster Tag Days.

Mr. Jake Levinson, boosters secretary, said collections far exceeded expectations. Tag Days were held Oct. 4 and 5. Junior and senior high school students aided in collecting funds for the Tag Day drive.

said, "especially when you have the future planning of the City of Jamestown in mind."

The mayor was critical of those councilmen and others who oppose a new city hall.

"In spite of odious comparisons to the contrary," Magnuson said, "Jamestown's present City Hall has long been too small for the departments it must house. We have rented buildings all over the city and have suffered much from this decentralization."

The mayor also offered his thanks to those people whom, he said, gave their quiet support to both projects. "Without their support, I could not have endured the last three months," Magnuson said.

Good Guys Beat The Bad Guys; Maneuvers End

The "Good Guys" beat the "Bad Guys" as the Green Berets of the 11th Special Service Co. brought their operational maneuvers to a close Tuesday.

Green Berets Headquarters reported that the Good Guys defeated the Aggressor forces by "blowing" bridges and completely disabling the invading force.

According to present plans the 11th SS Co. will not return here in force in 1969, but plans to return in 1970. A visiting officer, Lt. Col. Puleo, and a civilian, Frank Kollar, both of Franklin, have visited the Green Beret area near Sheffield, to find a suitable support site for 1970 operations.

Today, as the Green Berets wind up operations and prepare to leave, there will be two presentations, one at Cherry Grove at noon, the second at Porkey Station at 2 p.m.

At each ceremony, from 60 to 70 persons will be presented with Certificates of Military Assistance from the 11th Special Forces Group. The certificates will be decorated with the airborne insignia and will be signed by Major Lewis Meyers, USAF.

At 6 a.m. Thursday, the first troops will leave for home from the Sheffield Ranger Station. The operation is expected to be completed, with clean up work done, by Sunday.

No Discussion Held Yet Of Musmanno Successor

HARRISBURG (AP) — No discussion of a possible successor for late state Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno is underway as yet, a spokesman for the Shafer administration said Tuesday.

Even if there were, he noted, Gov. Shafer, who is attending the funeral of the noted jurist Wednesday, "would deem it inappropriate to comment at this time."

Over 100 UF Volunteers In County

Bernard Wingert, chairman for the 1968 United Fund county division, has enrolled over one hundred fifty men and women to cover the solicitation in all parts of Warren County.

He has been assisted in this formidable task by Henry Wuesthoff of Russell serving as a division vice chairman. The county division is responsible for making contacts in every township and borough of the county except Warren, Conewango, Glade, Mead and Pleasant which is handled by the Residential division chairman by Richard Huber.

In Sheffield, the drive is handled by the Sheffield Woman's Club under the leadership of Mrs. Clarence Danielson, Mrs. Arthur Boardman and Mrs. Carl Benson.

In Youngsville, Mrs. Archie Brittain and Mrs. Donald Lake are serving as co-captains and have enrolled twenty-five persons to help the solicitation. Russell captains include Mrs. Henry Grieb, Mrs. John Bickarok and Mrs. Clyde Arthur.

Other area captains are Mrs. Richard Lindell, Farmington; Mrs. Chester Kibbey, Pittsfield; Mrs. Francis F. Hummiller, Grand Valley; Mrs. Barbara Miller, RD 2, Tusville; Mrs. Alfred Akins, Chancellors Valley;

Mrs. Marvin Thorpe, Sugar Grove; Mrs. Hazel King, Tidioute; Mrs. Vinton Finzer, Elk Township; Mrs. Hollis Morton and Mrs. George Morton, Freehold Township.

Each of these captains has teams of willing workers serving with them to make a thorough coverage of the county on behalf of the ten United Fund agencies.

Russell Woman Hospitalized After Mishap

A Russell woman was hospitalized Monday following a two-car accident on Route 62 near Beech st., North Warren, according to Conewango Township police.

Joanna Nosel, Russell, was admitted to Warren General Hospital with possible neck injuries after the car she was operating was struck from behind by a car operated by William F. Rieder, 416 S. State st., North Warren.

The Nosel vehicle had stopped behind a propane gas truck which was stopped at a railroad crossing, police reported. Damage to the Rieder vehicle was set at $500 according to police, while damage to the Nosel vehicle was estimated at $1,000.

Another woman was taken to Warren General Hospital for examination Tuesday following a two-car accident at the intersection of Jackson Run rd. and Route 62, police reported.

According to a hospital spokesman, Edith Patton, 702 West st., Warren, was examined and released.

Conewango Township police stated, Patton was the operator of a vehicle struck at the intersection by a car driven by Judith A. North, 844 Pleasant dr., Warren.

The mishap occurred at 5:10 p.m., police reported, when the Patton vehicle pulled out of Jackson Run rd. into the path of the North vehicle which was southbound on Route 62.

Damages in the mishap totaled $900, according to police.

LeMay Arrives In Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, the running mate of George C. Wallace on the American Independent ticket, arrived in Saigon Wednesday for a tour of the Vietnam war zone.

Tight security precautions, including four military police jeeps mounted with machine guns, were in effect at Tan Son Nhut airport when LeMay's commercial airliner touched down.

LeMay, retired Air Force chief, was met by Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, Jr., U.S. commander in South Vietnam; U.S. Deputy Ambassador Samuel Berger and other military and civilian officials.

The vice presidential candidate declined to make any statement about his trip.

"I've made it clear I want to get in and out of the country with as little commotion as possible," he told newsmen.

U.S. officials said they were prepared to give LeMay full military and political briefings on the situation here.

appropriate to comment at this time."

Shafer, a Republican, has the power to appoint an interim justice to succeed the Democrat.

At the earliest opportunity—the 1969 general election—a new justice will be elected to a 10-year term as prescribed under the new state constitutional amendment adopted by voters earlier this year.

It is considered a political certainty that Shafer will appoint a Republican, tilting the partisan balance of the panel even further in favor of the GOP.

Musmanno was one of three Democrats on the seven-man panel. Another Republican would give the party a 5-2 edge.

By nature of his position, state Atty. Gen. William C. Sennett has been mentioned as a possible contender but even the 38-year-old cabinet member was taken aback at the suggestion.

Members of both parties suggested he was too young—or "perhaps too immature," said one Democrat—to join the panel whose average age is 66.

Shafer's nomination—if he acts while the General Assembly is still in session this year—will go before the Senate which must approve it by a two-thirds majority. Otherwise, Shafer may wait until after the legislature adjourns in late November to make an interim appointment.

Still a further, although distant, possibility is that Shafer will make no appointment because of another proposal of the recent constitutional revision still pending.

Under this proposal the voters will decide at a referendum next May whether future state court justices and judges should be elected or appointed.

Under the terms of the referendum, Supreme Court appointments would be made by the governor from a list of persons submitted by a special qualifications commission.

Damages Total $1325 In Mishaps

Property damages totaled $1,325 in two separate two-car accidents Tuesday, according to borough police.

An accident at 3:20 p.m. resulted in $800 damages when a car operated by Jerome Paul Davis, 12 Dartmouth st., collided with a car operated by Kevin L. Bartley, 207 Dobson ave., police said.

The accident occurred at Prospect and Division streets. No one was injured in the mishap, according to police. Damages to each vehicle was set at $400.

A second accident investigated by borough police occurred at 5:35 p.m. on Glade Bridge. According to police, damages totaled $525 when the brakes on an eastbound United Parcel Service truck, operated by Joseph P. Skilly, 307 Park ave., Kane, failed. The truck struck the rear of a car operated by Dorothy M. Blum, Sheffield.

Damage to the Blum car was set at $500, police stated, while damage to the United Parcel Service truck was estimated at $25.

There were no injuries reported.

State Police Use Tear Gas To Flush Two

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP) — State Police used tear gas Tuesday to flush two Logan Township men out of their home after shots from the house riddled a police cruiser Monday night.

Officers arrested Bruce and Saylor Slaterbeck, both 51. They were taken before Justice of the Peace E. J. Cross of Mill Hall, and charged with assault with intent to kill, resisting arrest, wantonly discharging a firearm and damaging state property.

State Police said the shots were fired after Troopers Ronald J. Zukoski and Robert L. Neldrich went to the home Monday night to serve Bruce Slaterbeck a warrant charging him with driving without a license last April. Magistrate costs of $62 had never been paid, police said.

Bruce answered the door, police said, refused to accept the warrant and shut the door. The shots were fired as the troopers were walking back to the car, but neither was injured.

Police kept the house under surveillance until morning when six armed officers arrived and finally got the two brothers to surrender after firing tear gas into the home.

The enforcement officer met with the League of Women Voters and the owner of the Carver House Hotel annex property.

Three complaints were investigated, 30 hours spent on new construction, 60 hours spent in the office and 33 phone calls for information received.

There were 13 building permits issued last month for a total value of $25,215.

'Lack of Communications' Hurts Scholarship Program

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State's scholarship program suffers from a "lack of communications" between those administering it and students, counselors and financial aid officers, an educator testified Tuesday.

The statement came in testimony by George W. Murdoch, chairman of the steering committee of the Pennsylvania Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators.

He appeared before the second public hearing of a special Senate committee investigating the program, administered by the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency.

Murdoch, giving an example of the communications breakdown, cited the reduction of the maximum grant per student annually from $1,200 to $800.

Much confusion and consternation was caused to students, counselors and financial aid administrators who were unsure exactly how these changes would affect them," Murdoch said.

"Students receiving renewal awards were unsure of their financial aid resources until they returned to the campus in the fall. Financial aid officers had to constantly readjust their aid packages."

At one point Sen. Elmer Hawbaker, R-Franklin, brought up the possibility of students who receive state scholarships paying a special tax.

To this suggestion Amy Borsaris, of Chatham College, replied: "We don't want to unnecessarily burden the student with too high a loan."

Miss Borsaris added that 40 per cent of the students at Chatham—a small, private liberal arts college for women—received financial aid. About all those 40 per cent are working to supplement their scholarship aid, she pointed out.

Meanwhile, a Democratic representative from Bucks County charged that two of the committee members, Sens. Hawbaker and George N. Wade, R-Cumberland, indicated they wanted to end the program.

"There is every indication that certain Republicans intend to sabotage the state's scholarship program instead of strengthening it," said Rep. James J. A. Gallagher.

A spokesman for House Democrats said Gallagher was referring to Wade and Hawbaker.

Both senators raised the possibility during the hearing of a loan program to replace the scholarships. The educators present all expressed reservations about such a change.

55 Dwelling Units Inspected in Sept.

Stuart Winerter, borough code enforcement officer, has reported that 55 dwelling units were inspected inside and out during September.

Twelve units were inspected for former violations with corrections in the process in 11 of these dwellings. The remaining unit was vacated until violations are corrected. Two other units were ordered vacated until they were cleaned up and violations corrected.

The enforcement officer met with the League of Women Voters and the owner of the Carver House Hotel annex property.

Three complaints were investigated, 30 hours spent on new construction, 60 hours spent in the office and 33 phone calls for information received.

There were 13 building permits issued last month for a total value of $25,215.

School Desegregation in South Termed Colossal Failure

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The effort to end school segregation in the South has been a colossal failure, involving a lack of national commitment to granting full citizenship to Negroes, the Southern Regional Council said in a report released Tuesday.

"The nation has not seemed aware even of the failure, let alone resolute enough to end it," the report said.

The influential Atlanta-based council is a private research agency, financed by foundation grants, dedicated to promoting equality of opportunity for all persons.

The 58-page report is titled, "Lawlessness and Disorder: Fourteen Years of Failure in Southern School Desegregation."

It traces the history of integration of schools in the South since the 1954 U.S. Supreme Court school decision.

The report is the third in a period of four years in which the council has tried "to tell the nation of the deplorable degree of failure in the South to comply with the law of the land against racial discrimination in education."

Two earlier reports (in 1965 and 1966) included some "guardedly optimistic, some hopeful words," the SRC said, a feeling that the nation would soon move effectively to eliminate segregated schools in the South.

"This would come... once the nation realized the extent of failure, of resistance by men of public trust in the South, of ineptitude and unrealmism on the part of those charged with enforcement, of savage damage done to children of both races by this enduring record of flouting the law," the SRC said.

But, the report continues, "This time there seems almost no hope, no reason to find optimistic words..."

The report suggests that both federal court decisions and federal school desegregation guidelines have, in point of fact, simply failed to eliminate racially segregated schools.

Fully 88 per cent of the roughly 2.6 million Negro pupils in 11 Southern states were still in all-Negro schools in 1966, the report said. The figure was down only to 86 per cent in 1967, the SRC said, and preliminary figures for 1968 indicate there has been little change this fall.

The present climate in the United States gives little reason for hope of any improvement, the SRC said, because of the "disintegration to which American public life has come."

This disintegration involves a "tendency to anarchy, a willingness to destroy the good along with the bad of such a basic institution as higher education... a tendency to right-wing totalitarianism," the report said, adding that the public expresses its perception of this political climate with a "cry for law and order."

29 Students Injured After Sitdown at School

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Twenty-nine pupils suffered minor injuries and 11 were arrested Tuesday when fighting broke out following a sitdown by 500 Negro pupils at Olney High School.

Elsewhere, classes proceeded without disruption in five of the seven public schools plagued by racial disorders.

Twenty-seven white pupils and two Negroes were reported treated at Olney's infirmary. Three of the injured were girls. The fights took place in the cafeteria and auditorium.

Negro pupils at Benjamin Franklin High School issued a list of seven demands for a greater Negro role at that school.

Trouble in the schools began in South Philadelphia after Italian-American residents of the area surrounding Bok Vocational High School began demonstrating against the predominantly Negro enrollment there.

Bok and nearby South Philadelphia High School were closed last Thursday and Friday.

Disorders also broke out at Dobbins Technical High School and Edison and Overbrook High Schools, in addition to Olney and Franklin.

Police Commissioner Frank L. Rizzo, on hand to direct police at Olney, charged the Board of Education and the school system for the school disorders.

"Until the day that Dilworth and Shedd give control of the schools back to the teachers, and the children back to their parents, we will continue to have this," Rizzo said.

He was referring to Richard Dilworth, president of the Board of Education, and Dr. Mark R. Shedd, superintendent of schools.

Shedd had given permission to the police to make the 500 sit-downers disperse. The pupils fled when they saw them.

The Negroes started the sit-down Tuesday after holding a special assembly starting at 9:30 a.m.

They forced white persons, including teachers and a newsmen, out of the auditorium. They made an exception for one white girl who sat on stage with speakers. The girl declined to identify herself.

Olney's principal, Miss Marion Stuart, said she had given permission for the assembly, which was run by the Black Students Union and included two speakers who appeared too old to be high school pupils.

Tricia Describes Ideal Husband

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The pretty, 22-year-old eldest daughter of Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon revealed Tuesday her idea of an ideal husband.

"That's the first time that question has ever been asked me," Tricia Nixon told reporters—mostly women—at a news conference.

Her requirements are that her future husband be "kind, sincere, honest and interested in other people, but he doesn't have to be interested in politics."

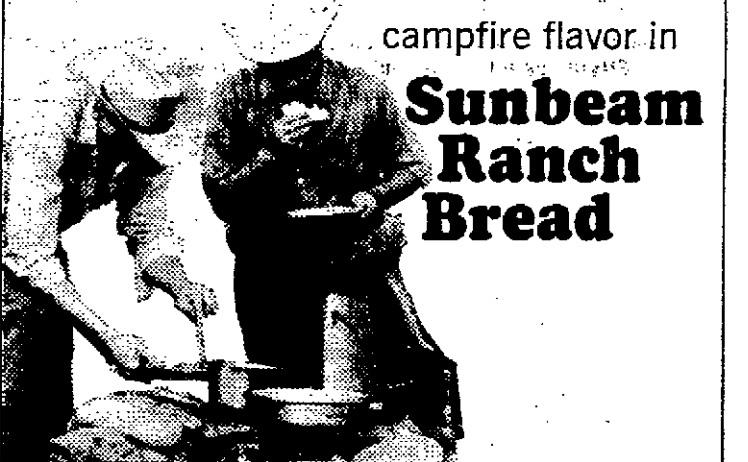

Asked whether she had any one special in mind, the blonde Miss Nixon smilingly parried: "Despite what the gossip columns say I don't have any special friends, but a number of friends."

Miss Nixon's younger sister, Julie, plans to marry former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's grandson.

Give Your Fair Share

"Give Your Fair Share—the United Way"—that's the slogan and that has proved to be the best way for the Warren area to support the many private agencies who must depend on public support to continue their vital programs.

Julius Thorn, retiring executive secretary of the YMCA, put into words last month, the benefits to be reaped by generously contributing to the united effort. He termed the Warren area "a complete community"—one that can be justly proud of its many civic features and private agencies that make this a happy place in which to reside. The Warren area has met its own needs in recent years through the generosity of its own citizens and by and large has not asked for handouts from outside interests.

The United Fund (or any financial campaign) helps the donor more than those persons receiving the benefits.

The goal for 1968 is $177,050 and once again area residents are being asked to contribute to the United Fund.

Much depends on contributions generous enough to support all of the agencies involved.

Let's go way over the top this year.

RUSSELL BAKER

Travels in America

WASHINGTON—Notes from a traveler's diary: Wednesday, 12:05 p.m.—Airplane takes off from Washington National Airport, bound for Providence, R.I., via Philadelphia. Climbs through two miles of garbage and surfaces in an oddly illuminated area of brilliant blue.

A panicky call to the stewardess, "What is that stuff out there?" "Sunlight," she says. "And out there?" "It can't get into the plane, can it?" "Relax, you're perfectly safe."

Suddenly in the cabin the reassuringly earthy smell of burning material. Wiring insulation? "A little trouble with the heating system," the captain announces. "Nothing serious."

Plane descends through thickening layers of garbage, touches asphalt, rolls, stops. "Welcome to Philadelphia," says a loudspeaker. "This flight has now been cancelled."

Wednesday, 1:55 p.m.—How ingenious are the airplanes of the United States: Here, for example, is a worthy flight. Ostensibly its purpose is to transport from Washington to Providence, but its real purpose, now apparent at last, is to enable one to finish this splendid 325-page novel by Irving Wallace.

Consider: One buys a ticket to Providence via Philadelphia. (forty-five minutes of reading time to Philly.) At Philadelphia the flight is canceled as the passenger booked on another flight leaving at 5:05 p.m. (four hours and fifteen minutes of reading time.)

This flight goes from Philadelphia back to Washington (arriving precisely six hours after the first departure from Washington), waits 30 minutes at the airport, then flies the passenger direct to Providence in 70 minutes.

Is it not wonderful that a journey of 70 minutes can be made to require seven and half hours of travel time? It is wonderful enough for readers of Irving Wallace.

Thursday, 11:30 a.m.—Out of the hotel and into a taxi. "The airport!" The driver speeds away, relating the history of his two marriages and his surgery. After 20 minutes he asks, "you don't by any chance know where we find the road to the airport?"

Thursday, 1:10 p.m.—Plane descends through tons of solidifying smoke and chemical wastes into a scarred world of grays and blacks. The landscape of death-trees, sunless, airless. "Welcome to Newark," says a loudspeaker. On 42nd Street in Manhattan an overpowering smell of hot dog mustard and lost trapped under the movie marquees rolls through the opened taxi windows on swirls of greasy soot. A million people shuffle along the sidewalks getting their faces blackened; among them, an aging wreck in Salvation Army clothes, his face a fright mask of scar tissue—an old boxer?—lost in his own world, chewing a big chunk of dry bread.

Seventh avenue is strangling on trucks. No wheels move. People with faces on the edge of terror clamber like monkeys among the angry behemoths. The cab driver coughs up some soot and yellow chemicals. "It shouldn't be like this yet," he says.

5:30 p.m. Thursday—The car creeps across Manhattan like a crippled beetle and comes to rest in a frozen river of automobiles that extends across bridges, up hills and around curves for as far as the eye can see in the thick gray light. The driver lights a cigarette, lowers his window and exhales a stream of tobacco smoke into the ocean of exhaust fumes. "This is just normal traffic," he says, "for the Long Island Expressway."

7:50 a.m., Friday—Somewhere it must be a beautiful autumn morning. Here at Newark Airport the light seems to have been left over from a used February dusk. The airport egg tastes faintly of various chemicals that have been inhaled on the bus ride through Manhattan and Hoboken. One feels, uneasily, that his membranes might produce a new miracle for the Dupont Corporation.

At last the flight from Washington is called. The plane whines purposefully as it gropes through morning sewage to find the runway, then pauses and hums to itself like an idiot. "There will be a delay of about 25 minutes," a talking box announces. The passengers seem puzzled. Only 25 minutes delay; will miracles never cease? And somewhere up there, waiting for us, a glimpse of sunlight, an ocean of real air.

JIM BISHOP More Involved Than Viet

The reassessment promised by Nixon, Humphrey and Wallace regarding the Vietnam war is, in reality, a small feature of a large portrait. It involves all of Asia and adjacent islands. The United States, as the protector of the free world, failed in Korea, where it won an uneasy stalemate, and may lose the wormlike land of Vietnam, which it tried to cut in half.

Reassessment is, at best, a diplomatic word. It assumes that a mistake has been made in the original assessment. Of the seventy-one billions the U.S. annually spends on defense, more than thirty billions go to Saigon. No other signatory to the SEATO pact is going broke in this interminable foray. Each one puts up a small token force, and each sustains small losses.

An Air Force colonel stood on the apron at Ton Son Nhut airport with me and he skidded a few pebbles under his feet and put it bluntly: "We can win. If someone in Washington took the brakes off our air and ground forces we could mop this thing up pretty fast." No one took the brakes off.

The reason for fighting behind a demilitarized zone—if you recall the original pronouncement—was that we were there to protect the right of South Vietnam to an electoral determination in favor of democracy. In sum, we would fight the North Vietnamese who tried to invade the South, and we would clear the South of Viet Cong.

The limitation of military goals was a diplomatic evasion. Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson sought the counsel of their Joint Chiefs of Staff and were told that, if U.S. forces moved north to take Hanoi and Haiphong out of the war, there would be a grave risk that Red China would send her endless hordes south to defeat the United States.

There would be nothing official about it. The Chinese would be volunteers, as they were called in Korea, where they met our victorious forces south of the Yalu River and ran us back to the 38th Parallel. We cannot afford one more of those surprises.

Once committed, the U.S. imposed its restricted goals in Vietnam so that China—the real enemy—would not be goaded into taking military action. Merely to hang on to what we had, the American forces have been escalated above a half million men, in addition to the aforementioned $30 billion a year. An expensive standoff.

Since the action began, one President has been assassinated, and another retired from office. Candidates for exalted office in this country rise and fall on their professional attitudes toward Vietnam. No one, even the faker, has a solution, because peace is not in the interest of the world of socialism.

Bleeding the U.S. is, in the world of Marxism, an ideal state. I would be most surprised if the Asians in Paris are there to discuss a ceasefire. The Americans dare not cross the demilitarized zone to punish North Vietnam, and they dare not abdicate their role of world leadership. Between those extremes, there is no palatable.

This is why I believe that when the newly elected President assumes office on January 20th, he is going to have to "reassess" the role of this country as the world guarantor of national borders. When the last hot gun has been fired in Vietnam, why shouldn't the Communists start a similar action to "liberate" Thailand? Or India? Turkey?

The "reassessment," in the face of general disgust in this country, may go far beyond Vietnam. It may have to embrace all of Asia and the Middle East. Ironically, there are only two options: continue to bleed and spend to maintain leadership of the Free World, or blunt the eagle's beak and chain him to his tree.

The postwar histories of almost all modern wars prove that the adversaries misjudged each other's intentions. Each side was certain that the other side would not engage in mortal conflict over a small matter like Serbia (1914) or the Polish Corridor (1939). John F. Kennedy avoided this error when he told the Soviet Union that any missile coming out of Cuba would be regarded by the U.S. as having been fired by the Soviet Union.

There was no misjudgment of American intentions. Russia pulled its missiles out. Of one thing we may be sure in 1969. The world will watch closely to see whether we, or the Asians, lose what is loosely called face. . .

Wallace's Mental Disability

WASHINGTON — For the first time in 192 years of American history, a man with an established mental disability is running for President of the United States.

George C. Wallace, upon retiring from the Army Air Force, applied for mental disability payments and convinced the doctors that he deserved at least partial compensation. The record has been set forth in detail by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore. The amount that Army doctors allowed Wallace was 10 per cent, and some observers who have watched the mental gymnastics of his current campaign say the doctors were conservative.

At any rate, this psychoneurosis is something which he shares with the late Huey Long, would-be dictator of Louisiana, with Adolf Hitler and with other men who tried to climb to power on the backs of their fellowmen.

"The official records," Sen. Morse told the Senate, "will show that Gov. Wallace entered military service on Oct. 20, 1942, and was honorably discharged on Dec. 8, 1945, with the grade of sergeant in the Army Air Corps. He participated in the offensive against Japan and earned the Air Medal, plus area and good conduct medals."

"During the service, he was hospitalized from April 1, 1943 to June 3, 1943 for acute cerebral meningitis. He was also hospitalized in September 1945 for severe anxiety state, chronic, manifested by tension states, anxiety attacks, anorexia, and loss of weight. It does not appear that he was disciplined for any infraction while in the service."

"He filed claim for compensation in June 1946 and in December 1946, was granted service-connected disability for psychoneurosis, for which an evaluation of 10 per cent was assigned. "He was last examined by the VA in November 1956, when he gave his age as 37 and stated that he was married, had three children and was occupied as a circuit judge. He was tense, restless, and ill at ease, frequently drummed the desk with his fingers, changed positions frequently, sighed occasionally, and showed a tendency to stammer, resulting in the diagnosis of anxiety reaction. The ten per cent rating was continued."

"Since Governor Wallace has not been examined since November 1956," concluded Sen. Morse, "it would seem to be appropriate for him to volunteer to be examined at this time."

Senator Morse made this suggestion in 1963. There is no record that Wallace acted on it.

Wallace had some superficial brushes with the

SYLVIA PORTER

Your Invisible Paycheck

Does your employer allow you, the working mother, time off with pay to take your children to the doctor?

Does your employer pay part of your dental bills, not only for yourself, but also for your spouse and your children?

Does he give you a special "vacation bonus" to be used simply as extra spending money on your vacation?

Chances are that your employer doesn't. But this is a sampling of fringe benefits which have been won in recent months by union members in various parts of the U.S.

Fringe benefits now amount to a whopping 27 per cent of the U.S. employer's labor costs, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce estimates. Your "extras" now corner a wide range of pension contributions by your employer, paid vacations and holidays, group health and life insurance, special bonuses, profit sharing. To help you find out how your benefits rate, here is a brief sketch of the latest trends in the U.S.:

RETIREMENT BENEFITS: Today's trend is toward earlier retirement with full benefits and even earlier retirement (in some cases, age 55) with reduced benefits. Some companies are experimenting with phased retirement, including lengthy sabbatical vacations for all older workers. Another very important trend is toward pension "vesting," allowing employees to carry their pension credits with them if they change jobs.

HEALTH INSURANCE. Most workers and their dependents are now covered by group health insurance for doctor and hospital bills. The new trends are toward increasing amounts of major medical coverage for catastrophic illness, outpatient psychiatric care as well as in-hospital care, dental bills and eye care, yearly physical exams, etc. A few employers provide coverage for totally disabled dependents and make prescription drugs available to workers at bargain prices.

VACATIONS AND HOLIDAYS. As many as 10 or 11 paid holidays are being allowed this year. The five-week vacation is rapidly becoming standard after 25 years of service and the three-week vacation is frequently being given after only 10 years of service. Increasing numbers of employers are giving either Columbus Day off, or the Friday after Thanksgiving.

LIFE INSURANCE. The trend is toward not only substantial group coverage for workers but also for wives and children. Profit-sharing plans. These plans are being set up by smaller and smaller companies. Employees are becoming eligible to participate in the plans and withdraw their full funds after fewer and fewer years of service.

EDUCATIONAL BENEFITS. Many employers today will pay the full costs of further education and training for workers at all levels. In a few cases, employers also are offering college scholarships for workers' children.

And this is not all. In the debating stage are dozens of new types of benefits ranging from group automobile insurance to free legal services, special assistance for handicapped dependents, paternity leaves for new fathers, etc.

One inescapable implication is that the actual value of the fringe benefits you are getting is many times what you think it is. Another is that you are struggling over the value of the benefits to which you have long become accustomed. For instance: did you know that the two 10-minute coffee breaks a day add up to two weeks of paid time off during a single working year?

Fact About 'Electoral College'

HARRISBURG — It is perhaps a curious fact of historical life but that much aligned and highly criticized institution known as the "Electoral College"—which every four years does indeed elect the President of the United States—at one time became the sole vehicle for providing Pennsylvania a voice in the election of a President!

This all dates back to an incident in the presidential election of 1800

(mentioned briefly in this column yesterday) in which in that fourth presidential election in the country's history, the Keystone State was so fouled up that electors of the state that year did not have an opportunity of expressing by popular vote their choice for President—the only time it happened—and the Electoral College became the only vehicle for Pennsylvania to get in on the presidency.

A note first about the little known Electoral College:

To begin with it is not an institution of higher learning; it does not confer degrees and it does not have students (as such). It is the vehicle designed by the delegates to the Constitutional Convention of 1787 to elect a President — all of which is in addition to the popular vote, as for example that which will be duly recorded November 5 when voters go to the polls.

The college electors in each state equal the number of U.S. Representatives in Congress it has. (In the case of Pennsylvania, 27) plus its U.S. Senators (two) for a total vote, in the case of the Keystone State, of 29.

In essence, the electoral votes of the Keystone State invariably are cast in favor of the party or candidate carrying the state.

The Electoral College meets in January when the two houses of Congress go into session for the counting of the electoral votes. The candidates for President and Vice-President receiving the greatest number of electoral votes are declared the winner, provided such number is at least a majority (In 1969, the majority will be 270 out of 538).

Now back to the presidential of 1800. The Legislature of 1790-1800 failed to provide for the choosing of presidential electors in 1800, which left the (perhaps) 20,000 Pennsylvania voters without presidential candidates over which to mull and flex their ballot quill pens.

As a result, Governor Thomas McKean called the legislative greats of the day into special session on November 5 (1800) at the court house in the (then) borough of Lancaster for the purpose of providing for the selection of presidential electors in behalf of the Keystone State.

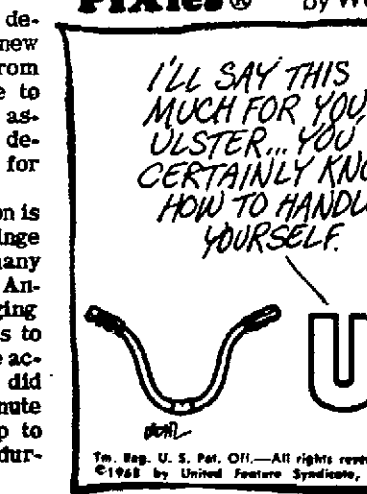

The Legislature got into a hassle (as usual) between the two houses as to the method of electing the electors, but finally managed to pass an act providing for the naming of eight candidates for presidential electors by each house and the selection of 15 therefrom at a joint session.

The joint session was duly held. Eight were nominated by the House of Representatives and seven by the Senate (making the 15 to which Pennsylvania was then entitled) and were duly elected to represent Pennsylvania in the Electoral College.

At the meeting of the Electoral College, eight of the electors voted for Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr (the Republican candidates) and seven for John Adams and C. C. Pinckney (the Federalist candidates).

As a matter of further historical fact it should perhaps also be noted that the vote of those days was exclusively a male vote — the distant side at that point not yet having emerged from the confines of coal stove and butter churning (which perhaps accounts in part for the low vote of the day!) The Electoral College system may indeed be obsolete, as many students of government profess and insist, but at least on one occasion it provided the only vehicle for Pennsylvania to get in its two cents worth!

Ludlow
Area News

By MRS. HILDUR WENSTRAN
A bridal shower was held at the home of Mrs. Nell Davidson Wednesday evening for Miss Nancy Cartwright daughter of Mrs. Doris Cartwright of Ludlow. She was the recipient of many lovely and useful gifts. There were 22 present with two out of town guests Mrs. Kathleen Strianni of Kane and Miss Barbara McCauley of Warren. The tea table was centered with a miniature bride and groom and candles. Delicious refreshments were served and games were played throughout the evening. Miss Cartwright and Robert Parsons of Buffalo, N.Y. were married Saturday, October 12th at 2 o'clock at the United First Methodist Church in Warren, the Rev. Weaver, pastor of that church officiated.

The shower was given by Mrs. Nell Davidson and Mrs. William Campbell.
The American Legion Auxiliary Legion No. 489 of Ludlow met Tuesday evening at the Legion Hall with the president Mrs. Anna Misulich conducting the meeting. She opened with the "Flag Salute", the reading of the preamble and the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" which was led by Mrs. Mabelle Nelson. The secretary and treasurer's report were heard. They discussed the sending of Christmas packages to our service men with 10 of our boys in the service (3 in Vietnam and 2 on the way).

Thank you notes were read from members that are on the sick list. A bake sale was held in the afternoon with a variety of food (cookies, other baked goods and canned goods).

Mrs. Mabelle Nelson gave a wonderful program by showing beautiful colored slides taken on her Western tour trip this summer.

Hostesses serving refreshments were Gladys and Millie Morelli.

Mrs. Eva Jones entertained some friends at a luncheon at her home last Wednesday, out of town guests were Mrs. Mildred Johnson and Miss Ellen Lawson of Warren, Pa.

Moriah Church Women will meet Thursday evening at 8:00 p.m. The program "Atlanta Convention Gleanings" and "LCW Visits in Florida 1968", speaker will be Miss Labrida Hanby, Franklin, Pa. The Warren LCW of First Lutheran Church will be guests. Hostesses will be Mrs. Enoch Nelson, Mrs. Carl Swanson, Mrs. Lawrence Olson and Mrs. Carl F. Eliason.

Mrs. Franklyn Morris and daughters Beth Ann and Stephanie of Kane, were visitors at the Story Hour at Moriah Church Monday afternoon. The small girls were dressed in Chinese costumes and the Ludlow children were shown a collection of dolls. Next Monday will be closing day for the story hour and Mrs. Leroy Johnson will give a filmstrip from "The Filipino Festival" this will be followed with a party for the children.

Mrs. Esther Nelson, Miss Mercedes Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith of Erie, visited at the home of Mrs. Hildur Wenstran and other relatives on Sunday.

"Open Church" was observed at the wedding of Miss Nancy Cartwright, daughter of Mrs. Doris Cartwright at United First Methodist Church in Warren Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock when she was married to Robert Parsons of Buffalo, N.Y. with the Rev. Adolph Weaver reading the double ring ceremony.

A reception was held at the American Legion Home for 75 guests. Members of her family home for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Foote and family from Whitehall, Ohio, Mrs. Richard Benges of Cape May, N.J., Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Johnson of Bradford, Sgt. Robert Cartwright from Quantico, Va., and Peg and Raymond Cartwright at home and Mrs. Doris Cartwright.

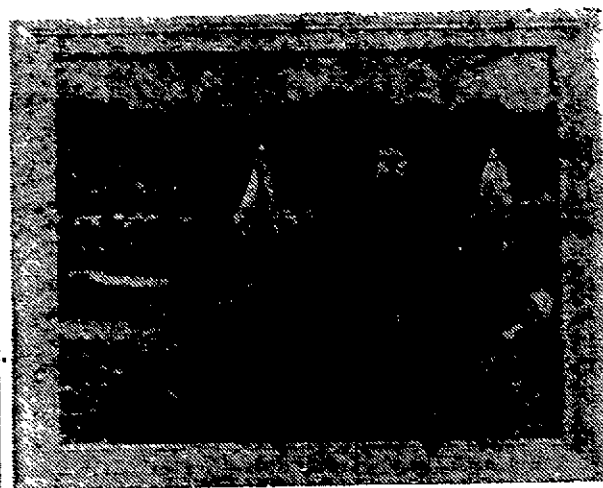

Guests at the Olmsted home from Friday till Sunday were Mr. Robert Olmsted, and Mr. and Mrs. Elston Swanson from Long Island, N.Y. and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maine of DuBois. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Peterson of Jamestown, N.Y. visited at the home of Mrs. Hildur Wenstran on Wednesday, bringing with them a complete dinner which was very much enjoyed. Mrs. Violet Ralston was also a guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gregg returned home on Monday after a weeks visit with their son and family Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Gregg in Binghamton, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mortenson and son Mark of Jamestown, N.Y. were visitors at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Mortenson, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Anderson, daughter Debbie and Miss Laurie Olson, spent last weekend with Mr. and Mrs. John Wolfe in Endicott, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewald Nelson, Mrs. Arlene Springer and Mrs. Jennie Kopper of Erie, visited at the old family home in Ludlow on Saturday and looked up former friends and neighbors.

AFTER DRAFT

Joe Foy Blasts Bosox Manager

BOSTON (AP)—Joe Foy blasted Manager Dick Williams as "a sneak who delights in hurting people" and said he was glad to get away from Boston after being the first Red Sox player chosen Tuesday in the American League expansion draft.

"It's impossible to play our best ball under a man like Williams," the 25-year-old third baseman said when told he had been selected by the Kansas City Royals in the first round. "Some guys are front runners, but this man is a sneak," Foy said. "This man takes pleasure in hurting people. He thinks that will make you a better ball player. Well I've got news for him: I expect to be a much better ball player with a brand new club."

Williams shrugged off Foy's blast, saying, "He's not the first guy to take a shot at me." As for not putting him on the list of 15 protected players, the manager emphasized that no one was protected or exposed as a result of any solo decisions. "This was a group thought," he said, "but I don't think you could say Foy had an outstanding year. He hit .220-something and he did make an awful lot of errors."

Foy, speaking from his home in New York, said he had expected to go to another club but thought he would be traded rather than exposed in the draft and had hoped to be dealt to the New York Yankees.

"We tried to trade Foy," General Manager Dick O'Connell said, "but nobody offered us anything substantial."

Foy, who was minor league player of the year at Toronto in 1965, has been erratic in his three years with the Red Sox. The 1968 season was his worst. His batting average dropped to .225 and he also slipped in the field, making 30 errors.

In the succeeding rounds the

Ridgway Gets Past Warren JVs

Ridgway scored two touchdowns in the last two minutes of play Monday to hand Warren's Jayvees their fourth defeat in six outings by a 19-12 margin.

The Dragons, down by six after a quarter, took the lead in the middle stanzas on Mark Krumm's 60-yard reverse and George Abel's PAT run, and added to it in the third quarter as Abel capped a drive with a two-yard plunge.

The Elkers took advantage of a fumble punt on Warren's four and a dropped ball from scrimmage at the Dragon 40 in the final minutes of the game to push across 13 points and secure the win.

Warren travels to Titusville next Monday and closes out the Jayvee season when Erie Kanty Prep comes to town on Oct. 28.

Larry Jackson Will Retire Now

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Larry Jackson, for 15 years a major league pitcher, announced his retirement Tuesday at the age of 36.

Jackson said in a telephone call to Ray Griffin, sports editor of the Idaho Statesman, that he was officially retiring.

"I had made up my mind before the expansion draft and this was in no way connected with Montreal drafting me Monday," Jackson said.

Jackson had a 13-17 record this year for the Philadelphia Phillies.

Red Sox lost pitchers Dave Morehead, Gary Bell, Dick Boney and Darrell Brandon and infielder Jerry Adair. Morehead and Adair will join Foy with Kansas City, while the other three were picked by the Seattle Pilots.

Bell, 31, who had a big first half in 1968 and was named to the American League All-Star team before slipping in the second half of the season, said he was surprised at not being protected after the first two rounds but "I'm glad I'm going to Seattle and not Kansas City. It's a brand new city, and I know I'll enjoy it there."

Morehead, 25, who pitched a no-hitter for the Red Sox in 1965 but has never fulfilled his promise since then while shuttling back and forth between the majors and the minors, said he was not surprised and looked forward to the opportunity to pitch regularly.

BUT THEY COMPETE

Black Athletes Use Socks In Subtle Demonstration

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
MEXICO CITY (AP)—Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, found himself caught up Tuesday in the middle of the black American athletes' controversy at the Olympic Games.

Several of the American black athletes indicated they didn't want the 81-year-old head of the IOC presenting them with any medals. Monday, when Jimmy Hines and Charlie Greene mounted the podium to receive medals for a one-three finish in the 100 meters, the presentations were made by Lord Burghley of England. Brundage, originally, was scheduled to make the presentations.

Hines said: "No, we made no formal request. We asked them who was going to present the medals and they replied Brundage. We didn't say anything. Neither did we smile. They apparently got the message."

The 100-meter gold medal winner admitted the action stemmed from the South Africa situation in which South Africa first was approved to compete in the Olympics with both black and white athletes. The action later was reversed because of South Africa's internal policy of not permitting blacks to compete against whites.

Tommie Smith, who broke the Olympic record for the 200-meters Tuesday in the trial heats, said: "I don't want Brundage presenting me any medals."

Smith, along with John Carlos, wore knee length black stockings in their trial heats. Carlos, who also qualified for the 200-meter finals, has been one of the militants among the black Americans.

Carlos also wore a badge on which was inscribed "Olympic project for human rights." And Smith said the reason he didn't wear a similar badge was because he didn't have one. Both admitted the action was a subtle demonstration of the injustice to the black man in the U.S.

Stan Wright, a Negro assistant coach in charge of the sprinters, had this to say of the action of the black Americans: "I was not informed of any demonstration. As far as I know they just wear high stockings because it was cold but they may have intended it to be a demonstration. If they did it is their business."

"We are here to win medals. As long as those boys run the 200 in 20.2 as Smith did today, they can wear half stockings or anything they want to. I don't care."

Bulls Edge NBA Knicks

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Washington took over the scoring from Flynn Robinson midway through the final period and pulled the Chicago Bulls to a 100-96 victory over the New York Knicks in the opener of the National Basketball Association's 23rd season Tuesday night.

The Knicks, behind most of the way, had taken an 87-84 lead before Washington got going. His basket cut the deficit to one and Robinson's free throw tied it.

Robinson chipped in with two free throws before Tom Boerwinkle put Chicago ahead to stay 91-89 with 3:07 remaining. Washington's basket and two more free throws kept the Bulls in front.

Robinson, who finished with 32 points, teamed with backcourt mate Jerry Sloan as the Bulls built a 61-46 lead early in the third quarter. But Cazzie Russell hit eight of nine field shots and added a free throw in the period and carried the Knicks within 75-74 entering the see-saw final period. Russell led the Knicks with 26 points.

Amazing Al Oerter Collects Fourth Straight Gold Medal

By TED SMITH
Associated Press Sports Editor
MEXICO CITY (AP)—

Amazing Al Oerter became the first athlete in Olympic history to claim a fourth straight gold medal and Wyoming Tyus took her second consecutive gold Tuesday, giving the United States four victories in ten track and field events.

Oerter, the 32-year-old veteran from West Islip, N.Y., tossed the discus an Olympic record-shattering 212 feet, 6½ inches to continue a victory string he started in 1956 at Melbourne, Australia.

Miss Tyus of Griffin, Ga., led a 1-2 American finish in the women's 100-meter dash, breaking the tape in a world record time of 11 seconds. That smashed the mark of 11.1 which she shared with three others, including teammate Barbara Ferrell of Los Angeles, who took the silver medal Tuesday.

Miss Tyus' victory gave the United States a sweep of 100-meter events following Jimmy Hines' victory in the men's 100 Monday and ran America's gold medal haul to four. The United States also has two silver medals and two bronze.

The U.S. basketball team, meanwhile, gained its third straight victory, overwhelming the Philippines 96-75.

The only American disappointment of the track and field competition came in the 400-meter hurdles where favorites Ron Whitney of Boulder, Colo., and Geoff Vanderstock of Los Angeles trailed well behind the winner, David Paul Hemery of Great Britain.

Hemery ran away with the race in 48.1 seconds, smashing the accepted world record of 49.1 held by Rex Cawley of the United States and the pending mark of 48.8 by Vanderstock.

Tom Farrell of New York put on a great finishing kick and won a bronze medal for third place in the men's 800-meter race. Ralph Doubell of Australia took the race in 1:44.3, beating Wilson Kiprugut of Kenya in the stretch and tying Peter Snell's world mark.

In the men's 200-meter preliminary heats, Americans dominated. Tommie Smith of LeMoore, Calif., and John Carlos of San Jose, Calif., each won both of their heats with Smith's 20.2 in his second tying the Olympic mark set by Australia's Peter Norman earlier in the day. Larry Questad of Los Angeles ran 1-2 in his two trial heats.

Oerter, a salesman who rarely competes in his specialty except for the Olympics, fouled on his second of six throws and then came back to set his record.

He was third in the American team trials behind Jay Silvester of Smithfield, Utah, who broke the Olympic mark in Monday's qualifying round, and Gary Carlson of Los Angeles.

But the big guy was superb in the final, winning by better than 5½ feet over Lohar Milde of East Germany. Ludvig Daneek of Czechoslovakia was third with 206-6.

Silvester, who has a pending world record of 224-5, finished fifth with 202-8 and Carlson was sixth with 195-8.

Oerter won the discus for the first time at Melbourne in 1956, then repeated at Rome in 1960 and at Tokyo in 1964.

"I guess I'm very jealous of the gold medal," he said. "I don't want to give it to anyone else."

He hedged on speculation over whether he would return for a fifth shot. "I hate to commit myself," he said, "I don't want to retire and then come back."

Miss Tyus blazed to her record with a crowd of 40,000 cheering wildly in the rain at Olympic Stadium.

There were two false starts in the race, the first by Miss Farrell and the second by Margaret Bailes of Portland, Ore. Miss Tyus was running in lane three, Miss Bailes in lane four and Miss Farrell in lane five.

The field moved out fast at the gun with Wyoming taking the lead early and holding off Barbara's challenge. After the race, she jogged around the track, waving her hands in the victory gesture.

Irine Kirszenstein of Poland, who had set an Olympic record with 11.1 in Monday's qualifying, finished third. Miss Ferrell's time was 11.1, and Miss Bailes was fifth in 11.3. Miss Tyus had an 11.0 clocking wiped out in the qualifying heats because it was wind-aided.

"I've been looking forward to this for four years," she said. "A year ago people were saying that I was washed up. I guess I showed them." The 23-year-old champion said she would be back for the 1972 Games, "but only as a spectator."

Hemery, who has lived, trained and competed most of his life in the United States, won the 400-meter hurdles by four meters in a dazzling display of speed.

A graduate of Boston University, he had captured the National Collegiate Athletic Association title in 49.8 for 440 yards. His best previous time in the 400 was 49.6.

Gerhard Hennige of West Germany took the silver medal in 49.0, the same time John Sherwood of Britain showed for the bronze. Vanderstock was fourth, also in 49.0, and Whitney was sixth in 49.2.

Another deluge hit the stadium as Lord Burghley of England, the 400 winner 40 years ago at Amsterdam, presented Hemery with his gold medal.

The band, huddled beneath an overhang under the scoreboard, played God Save The Queen as the flags went up and the athletes, drenched to the skin, waved cheerfully from the victory stand.

Doubell, 23, won the 800 in one of the greatest stretch duels in Olympic history. Kiprugut set the pace most of the way and came off the final curve with a one-meter edge on Doubell.

But the slender Aussie, who came to the Games with little high-altitude training but a reputation as a fierce competitor, demonstrated that trait to the fullest in the race for the tape.

He overtook the Kenya ace with about 30 meters to go and hung on to win, matching Snell's 1962 world record and cracking the great New Zealander's Olympic mark of 1:45.1, set in the 1964 Games.

The feat was all the more amazing considering that Doubell's previous fastest time was 1:47.2 and most experts had felt the times in Mexico City's 1½-mile high altitude would be slower from 400 meters up.

Farrell, the former St. John's University flash who barely qualified for the final while two U.S. teammates failed in preliminary heats, put on a tremendous finishing kick to edge West Germany's Walter Adams for the bronze medal.

American oarsmen swept through repechage—or second chance—qualifying heats in three events, with Harvard's eight oared shell putting on a saving spurt at the finish, to give the U.S. spots in six rowing semifinals and one final.

Carlos, who broke Smith's 200 meter world record of 20.0 seconds with a 19.7 clocking at the U.S. Olympic Trials, won the first preliminary heat in a loading 20.5 seconds. The 6-foot-4 tornado from San Jose, Calif., zipped in front at the start and was looking back at the field as he hit the stretch.

Smith, of LeMoore, Calif., who ran a 19.9 in the race in which Carlos established his pending world mark, took the second 200 heat in 20.3. That equaled Henry Carr's 1964 Olympic record which later fell to Australia's Peter Norman with a 20.2 clocking in his heat.

Smith and Carlos both came back to win their second round heats as well. Smith matched Norman's 20.2 and Carlos won easily in 20.6.

Smith prominent in the Negro athletes' protest movement, wore black socks up to his knees as did Carlos.

Questad came on with a burst of late speed to edge Kenya's Julius Sang in 20.7 in his first race and then finished second in 20.5 to Jamaica's Michael Fray in the second round.

Oerter Might Not Try For Another

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Discus champion Al Oerter, the first person ever to win four gold medals in the same event in the Olympic Games, said Tuesday night he wasn't sure he would try for a fifth.

"Once I said my ambition was to win five gold medals in the discus," the 6-4, 260-pound computer analyst from West Islip, N.Y., said. "Now Munich in 1972 seems to be very far away. I definitely will throw another year but I'm not sure I will go to another Olympics."

Oerter, whose 212 feet, 6½ inches bettered by more than five feet the best throw he had ever had in his life, disclosed that he injured himself on Monday while training on damp ground.

He did not work out Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday of last week but had a good throw Saturday.

"This reminded me of my Olympics at Melbourne 1 years ago," Oerter said. "I didn't think I had a chance and I didn't think I had a chance this time with Jay Silvester having a throw of 224 feet."

Sylvester, Oerter's teammate and heavy favorite for the discus gold medal, finished four The powerful Oerter, who I not bettered 200 feet all ye said he got fired up for Olympic Games.

"It is easy to get an inspiration, The Olympics just naturally fire a guy up."

For years he has worn a pin in competition because of a pinched nerve in the back of neck.

At the traditional interview Briton asked: "Mr. Oerter, how it feels to be the first man being ever to win four medals in the same event?"

"Tired," Oerter replied.

BLUEBERRY RESULTS

Dan's Chevrolet took the team honors in this past summer's Blueberry Hill Golf League. The auto dealers were a solid nine and one-half points in front of runner-up Chimenti's Restaurant. The team is comprised of Captain Larry Parks, Frank Russo, Perry Wilcox, Ralph Walker and George Irvin.

The final standings are as follows: Dan's Chevrolet 96½, Chimenti's Restaurant 87; Connolly's Dist. 83½, Sylvania 81½, Style Shop 74½ and Northwest Savings 72.

Coconut Grove Restaurant 69½, Munch's Floor Coverings 69, Moose 109, 67½; Tomason's Nursery 65½, East Side Sandwich Shop 65, Nelson Elberg 64½, Midtown Motors 60½; Schlitzers 59½. Warren Beverage 50 and Soda Mineral 35.

Maury Wills Mum On Future Plans

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Maury Wills was noncommittal Tuesday concerning his baseball future.

The new Montreal team of the National League drafted Wills from Pittsburgh. The 36-year-old infielder, here for the national parks and recreation convention said, "I just don't know what I will do."

Hot Stovers Meet

There will be a general meeting of the Warren Hot Stove League at 8:00 p.m. on Thursday, October 17 at the YMCA. The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss important rules changes for the 1969 season. Everyone interested in the Hot Stove League is urged to attend.

All managers are requested to turn all equipment over to their ward chairmen.

TMO GRID CONTEST

DUFFY DAUGHERTY

DEFENSE COMES ALIVE

With the college football season nearing the halfway mark and the mythical championship up for grabs among several fine teams you can look for the defense to rear its ugly head more often.

The trend is starting to reverse itself to the point where one or two mistakes by a high scoring team can lead to disaster. Two intercepted passes helped unseat Purdue from its No. 1 location and has put Ohio State in the driver's seat.

Southern California, Penn State, Kansas, Tennessee and Arkansas have every right to dispute this reasoning because each has ambitions for top recognition nationally.

But Ohio State came up with the greatest defensive effort in the long regime of Woody Hayes. As we mentioned last week Woody and his Buckeyes can be mighty tough when they have a whole year to prepare for you. They certainly prepared for Purdue which had averaged 41 points a game. I would have thought it impossible to hold the Boilermakers scoreless.

This one game isn't the end of the season but the 13-0 victory over Purdue means that Ohio State is now the choice to take the Big Ten Championship.

The schedule the rest of the way favors the Buckeyes for they do not meet Indiana or Minnesota. And since Ohio State is loaded with fine sophomore talent it figures to become even stronger as the season wears on.

By holding the great Leroy Keyes to 19 yards in seven carries on the ground the Buckeyes also may have ended the speculation of a Rose Bowl confrontation between Keyes and Southern California's O. J. Simpson.

Meanwhile, Simpson, with 12 touchdowns in four games, has gained a comfortable edge in the race for the coveted Heisman award. His big test will come late in November when the Trojans face the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame.

There's an old adage in football which is apropos to Ohio State's defense. Before you can win a football game you must keep from losing it. I have to believe Woody Hayes insisted that his Buckeyes apply this theory against Purdue.

Ohio State apparently had great ball control in gaining the ground yardage that they did—333 yards. When this happens it means your defense gets the breathing room so necessary in two platoon football. The defense seems to rise to its zenith while waiting on the sidelines to take over.

However, ball control always isn't the difference. Our Spartans ran off 90 plays against a fine Michigan team's 55. We outgained them but they outscored us. Ball control pays off only when you take advantage of the times you get inside of your opponent's 30-yard line.

Ball control also pays off when your team has 5 kind of a defense Ohio State employees. Hold your rival on the ground, force him into the air and then capitalize on the interception.

SHARPSHOOTER SHAFER

Eleven points and 175 pounds. Those are the dimensions of this fine buck bagged by Harry Shafer of Braden, Pa. Shafer got his shot at the deer late Monday, lost it due to darkness, and returned Tuesday morning to the Scandia area, where he tracked it down. Morris Tops Ohio State's Tatum Earns Wilson In Back Of The Week Kudo

NEW YORK (AP) — Southern California's O. J. Simpson has closed ground on West Texas State's Eugene "Mercury" Morris in the competition for the major college rushing title with 220 yards against Stanford.

Morris was held to 52 yards by Memphis State last week but still held the edge over Simpson on total rushing yardage 936 in four games to Simpson's 808 in four games.

Simpson's three touchdowns moved him into a tie with Morris for the national scoring lead with 72 points.

According to the figures released by the National Collegiate Sports Service, the two man rushing race should be the best in history.

The record for major colleges is 1,570 yards for a full season by Fred Wendt of Texas at El Paso in 1948.

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN Associated Press Sports Writer John Tatum didn't carry the ball or throw any passes in Ohio State's 13-0 upset of Purdue Saturday. But he was named college football's Back of the Week by The Associated Press Tuesday for his efforts in stopping Leroy Keyes, a strong contender for back of the year.

Tatum, a 6-foot, 200-pound sophomore — cornerback from Passaic, N.J., was "out of this world," according to Coach Woody Hayes. The rest of the Ohio State defenders weren't far behind.

"It was the greatest defensive effort I've ever seen," Hayes said after his Buckeyes stopped Purdue.

"Most great upsets occur that way," Hayes added. "A great offensive team is stopped by a great defense."

Tatum's contributions included breaking up three passes, or-

AL Expansion Teams Hold Draft

BOSTON (AP) —The Kansas City Royals and the Seattle Pilots shelled out more than $5 million each for players such as Tommy Davis, Hoyt Wilhelm and Gary Bell and a flock of virtual unknown talent Tuesday at the American League expansion draft.

The Royals concentrated on youth, starting with Baltimore right-hander Roger Nelson, before they pulled a couple of surprises by drafting right-hander Moe Drabowsky, 33, from the Orioles and the 45-year-old Wilhelm from Chicago in the fifth round.

The Pilots went for seasoned pros at the outset, taking Don Mincher of California, Tommy Harper of Cleveland, Ray Oyler of Detroit and Gerry McNertney of Chicago in the first draft.

Later, they added Davis, a two-time National League batting champion who hit .268 for Chicago this year, and Bell, who had an 11-11 record with the Boston Red Sox.

None of the 10 established clubs appeared hurt too badly as they collected $175,000 for each of the six players they lost.

The Red Sox lost third baseman Joe Foy, infielder Jerry Adair and pitchers Dave Morehead, Dick Baney and Darrell Brandon in addition to Bell. However, Boston general manager Dick O'Connell and field boss Dick Williams were pleased—and relieved—by the outcome.

"God was with us today," O'Connell said with a smile after Kansas City selected the 31-year-old Adair in the sixth and final round.

"We think we came out of it

Warren Booster Meeting Tonight

The Warren Sports Boosters will hold their regular meeting Wednesday night at 8:30 in the Warren Area High School cafeteria. Dragon coach Toby Shea and his staff will be on hand to narrate films of last week's Warren-Olean game and answer questions.

The meeting is open to the public, and the Boosters will serve coffee and refreshments after the session.

The Board of Directors will meet at 7:30 tonight. Directors are urged to be prompt, as considerable business must be transacted before the regular meeting.

very good," Williams said. "We were very lucky. We protected a lot of young players and figured we'd lose some, but we wound up losing one—Baney, who led the Eastern League in pitching this year."

Baltimore got hit immediately as Kansas City made Nelson a No. 1 draft choice. Later, the Orioles lost young first baseman Mike Fiore, pitcher Wally Bunker and catcher Larry Haney.

The Cleveland Indians had infielder Chico Salmon drafted by Seattle in the second round. The Indians had appeared reluctant to trade Salmon as recently as the World Series.

The world champion Detroit Tigers didn't have to give up much in the cash windfall. In addition to Oyler, a light-hitting shortstop, the Tigers lost pitchers Jon Warden, Bill Butler, Dick Drago and Mike Marshall and outfielder Wayne Comer.

The Pilots selected 17 pitchers, one more than Kansas City. Seattle picked 13 right-handers and four left-handers, Kansas City chose 12 right-handers and four outpaws.

Each team drafted two catchers. The Royals drafted eight infielders, three more than the Pilots. Seattle selected six outfielders, two more than Kansas City.

The Royals and Pilots took different approaches at the start of the day-long draft, speeded up with the help of a computer. Kansas City embarked on a youth kick, while Seattle went for the old pros.

'69 Camaro SS Sport Coupe, plus RS equipment

Ask the kid who owns one.

Some people have a hard time communicating with youth.

Not us. We just bring on the 1969 Camaro, then tell it like it is.

It is: Restyled inside and out with a new grille, new bumpers, new parking lights, new instrument panel, new steering wheel, new striping, and new colors including Hugger Orange, which is wild.

It is: Full of new features including bigger outlets for the Astro Ventilation, a 210-hp standard V8, and a lock for the steering column, ignition and transmission lever.

It is: Available with a little device that automatically washes your headlights when you hold the windshield washer button in.

It is: Still wilder and weightier than the rival sportster we're too polite to name.

You should drive a 1969 Camaro at your Chevrolet dealer's the first chance you get.

Even if you're 42.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

Nation's Bankers Helped Push 10% Income Tax Surcharge

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK—It is not widely known, but the Johnson administration did not win passage of the 10 per cent income tax surcharge—a year and a half after the President first proposed it—until the nation's bankers camped on the doorsteps of congressmen in each of the 50 states.

There are 13,400 banks in the United States. In April, the American Bankers Association put out an urgent plea to the chief executive of each of these institutions to make personal calls on local congressmen in behalf of the tax bill. During the Easter and Memorial Day recesses, the bankers descended on the congressmen's home-town offices. The logjam broke shortly afterward.

Richard Nixon could have had this demonstration in mind when he called recently for an end to "heavyhanded bureaucratic" regulations of the securities industry. For although one of eight Americans own stocks and mutual fund shares, as Nixon noted, there are 90,000 securities industry salesmen, as he did not.

These, by and large, are the mutual fund salesmen, the registered representatives, the smaller broker-dealers who, in Nixon's view, "tragically... would suffer most" if the Securities and Exchange Commission were to succeed in cutting stock exchange commission rates and mutual fund selling charges.

Public Losing Focus on Apollo's Main Goal

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON (AP) — With all the hoop-la over the daily television shows from space, the public may have lost focus on the main goal of Apollo 7, which is to qualify the ship for the moon.

The fact is that such mundane-sounding things as radars, radars and control rockets are working so well that it's looking more and more like Apollo can transport men to the moon and back.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian astronaut Walter Cunningham near Wednesday's half-way point of the planned 11-day journey, ground controllers report Apollo 7 has achieved 75 per cent of the major objectives needed to qualify it for a lunar journey.

The primary goals Apollo 7 still must demonstrate are long duration flight and the critical re-entry and recovery techniques.

The initial moon landing flight will last eight days, with seven days for the roundtrip, interrupted by a one-day stay by two of the three Apollo astronauts on the lunar surface.

The engine that will steer the astronauts to the moon, kick it into lunar orbit and then out again has performed flawlessly in three test firings on the Apollo 7 mission. Five more ignitions are scheduled, including the burst that will take the ship out of orbit and back to earth.

Throughout the first four days of the Apollo 7 flight, the radars, life support, electrical and other systems have performed almost flawlessly with only a few minor problems reported.

Temperature in the cabin has been a constant, comfortable 70 degrees, and the three astronauts, except for their colds, have had no trouble adjusting to life in their roomy space chariot.

John Healey, a leading spacecraft engineer, said of the performance to date:

"I can put it in one word: terrific."

Healey is a vice president of North American Rockwell Corp., which built the craft.

Construction Begins On $3 Million Plant

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. began construction Monday on a more than $3 million underground communications center in Beaver County near Lillyville.

The 17,000 square-foot installation will be one of two underground centers straddling a 398-mile cable that will span Pennsylvania by 1970. The centers will improve communications service between the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh metropolitan areas, the company says.

On the surface at least, the decision to court the 90,000 salesmen would appear to represent a coolly calculated risk-reward equation. On the one hand, there is the likelihood that a small, articulate group—well distributed throughout the nation—would become active partisans, doorbell-ringers in behalf of the Nixon candidacy. On the other, there is only a faint chance that the much larger but more diffuse "public" is likely to rise up in righteous indignation.

The first-glance assessment assumes that the investing public truly wants the things the S.E.C. would give it: full disclosure of financial information; prompt, efficient execution of transactions; breadth, depth and resiliency of markets; narrow price spreads; commissions geared closely to brokerage industry costs.

This assumption is at least questionable. It is hard to believe that if low cost and efficiency were what was truly wanted that the investment community would remain snarled, seemingly forever, in its back-office problems, that "give-ups" and other dubious practices would have been tolerated as long as they have, or that the public would buy anything except no-load mutual funds.

If low cost and efficiency were what was truly wanted, 8, 10 or a dozen large brokerage houses could share the business, with the S.E.C. operating as a utility regulatory commission to hold down commission rates and assure adequate service.

Instead, the top dozen firms on the New York Stock Exchange today do perhaps 40 per cent of the total volume—there are no official figures—and some 428 other firms doing a public business split the remainder. The number of firms doing business on other exchanges and in the over-the-counter market increases the total.

It is at least as reasonable to suggest that much of the stock trading public could not care less about low-cost services and efficiency, that what it wants is not full disclosure but "hot tips," not breadth, depth and resiliency of markets but narrowly held issues guaranteed to move swiftly, not low-load mutual funds, but "go-go" performance.

This is not to suggest that the S.E.C. should not continue to try to keep the game honest in spite of itself. The difficulty is that the S.E.C.'s support may be waning.

The persistence and acceleration of inflation has forced investors to become daytraders, little old ladies to swap blue chips for glamor stocks, and even college endowments to adopt the cult of performance. The longer inflation persists,

High School Students Arrested

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Seven high school pupils were arrested Tuesday after they and about 60 other youngsters walked out in protest over attendance on Jewish holidays.

A school board spokesman said the Peabody High School pupils were disturbed they had to go school on Jewish holidays when Jewish pupils were excused.

Police said the seven pupils were arrested on charges of loitering and turned over to Juvenile Court authorities. The school board spokesman said the pupils returned to classes shortly after the walkout.

The school board reported attendance almost back to normal at two schools where Negro pupils claim they've been threatened by white classmates.

A school board spokesman said attendance was almost back to normal at Allegheny and Oliver High Schools. He said about 80 per cent of the student bodies at each of the schools were in classes. The schools have an enrollment of about 1,000 each.

The school board had agreed to a request by Allegheny pupils and their parents that plainclothes policemen be stationed in the school. But a police officer said he had no men there.

Hundreds of Negro pupils boycotted Allegheny Monday and attendance at Oliver also was off. The pupils said they would not return to classes unless they got protection.

Collision Damage Totals $8,000

A collision Tuesday on Route 27 about two miles west of Pittsburgh involving a tractor-trailer rig and a backhoe resulted in damages totalling $8,000, according to state police of the local substation.

The mishap occurred at 2 p.m. Police stated, the tractor trailer, operated by Michael Berovsky, RD 3, Drake Hill rd., Centerville, Pa., struck the side of a backhoe operated by Richard Follow, Irvine, Pa.

The tractor trailer, according to police, was attempting to pass the backhoe. In the face of oncoming traffic, the operator of the rig swerved right striking the right side of the backhoe.

There were no injuries reported.

2 Organists To Present Concert

A memorable evening of musical enjoyment is promised as two fine artists, Shay Torrent and Axel Alexander as The Duo, present a concert of popular music on a variety of Hammond Organs. Sponsored by the Winter Company, the concert will be held at Cathedral Prep Auditorium, 252 W. 10th St., Erie, at 8 p. m. on Thursday, October 17.

Shay Torrent, composer of symphonic works and pop tunes, has made a number of recordings for Mercury Records and is staff organist for the California Angels, having been with the Chicago White Sox for many years.

Axel Alexander, who studied music in his native Germany, established himself as a performer and composer in Germany and England before coming to the United States. Torrent and Alexander teamed up a few years ago and, since that time, have presented concerts all across the country.

For their performance here, the Duo will include showtunes, Latin rhythms, religious music and others.

The public is invited; there is no admission charge.

RECEIVES CONGRATULATIONS

Congressman Albert W. Johnson, right, receives the congratulations of House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford, as this Congressional session comes to a close. Johnson, during this Congressional session, held two minority posts; assistant floor leader in charge of the consent calendar, and regional whip for Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware. It was pointed out that during the second session of the 90th Congress, Johnson had an attendance record of 95.6 per cent.

Charred Skeleton Identified As That of German Girl

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Detectives identified Tuesday a charred skeleton found on a pile of burned tires in a lover's lane as that of a German girl missing since August.

Working from a ring, watch, section of gold chain and parts of a plastic raincoat, Detective Capt. Joseph F. Start said the skeleton was that of 23-year-old Renate Kaltenmorgen.

"I'm quite certain that our identification is correct," Start said. He said the coroner's office was making additional tests to confirm the identification and determine the cause of death.

The skeleton was discovered by a policeman last Saturday on the pile of burned tires in a secluded wooded area near a rural road in suburban Fawn Township.

"The area where she was found and by the way she was found, we have to assume there was foul play," Start said. "It's an assumption on my part but we won't know until the coroner finishes his investigation."

Start said the skeleton was found less than three miles from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kushkowski. Their son, Raymond, a 21-year-old cabinet maker, was engaged to Miss Kaltenmorgen.

He said the girl had been living with the Kushkowskis since last April. He said young Kushkowski told officers that he met the girl at Trania, Italy, in May, 1967, while she was working at a night club. At the time, he was stationed with the Armed Forces at L'Arverne, Italy.

The young couple, Start said, had obtained a marriage license and taken blood tests but had not set a date for the wedding.

Miss Kaltenmorgen was reported missing in August. Mrs. Kushkowski said the girl had left the house the night of Aug. 19 to "get a breath of fresh air."

She never returned.

Jury Renders Guilty Verdict Against Clarendon Man

A six man-six woman criminal jury Tuesday morning brought in a guilty verdict against a Clarendon man after deliberating only ten minutes.

Richard Jordan was charged with driving during suspension and failure to stop at the scene of an accident on Sept. 8 of this year.

State police trooper Joseph Azzatto, the arresting officer, and Trooper Mark Golomb, with other witnesses testified as to events leading up to charges being filed against the defendant.

Golomb told the jury that when he and Azzatto served the warrant on Jordan Sept. 9, the latter stated he was "just going to give himself up" and when asked for what offense, Jordan replied "for driving during suspension and hit and run."

The case was unusual in that Jordan appeared without counsel and conducted his own defense.

Upon taking the stand the defendant testified that at the time the accident occurred, he was working at a camp owned by George Lind of Erie, located on the Farnsworth Run rd. He further stated he was in the company of his younger brother and two other men at the camp.

According to his testimony, Jordan and the others "got to drinking pretty good" and he and a neighbor didn't return to Clarendon until about 6:30 a.m. Sept. 9.

Assistant District Attorney Robert Hampson, who conducted the Commonwealth case Tuesday, asked Jordan why Lind was not in court to testify as a defense witness.

Jordan stated he couldn't "see any reason to bring a man in from Erie over a simple little thing like this."

Hampson, in summation, reminded the jury that none of the men alleged to be with Jordan at the Farnsworth camp had appeared to testify on Jordan's behalf.

Jordan stated he was not driving the car in question which was owned by another brother. A second jury trial convenes at 9 a.m. today.

Bridegroom Nearly Misses His Wedding

MT. JEWETT — A partying bridegroom nearly missed his wedding here Saturday morning.

David Jefford, along with his brother and best man, Robert, and three friends, was picked up on Main st. by borough police at 3:30 a.m. Saturday.

The Jeffords, Paul Ewing and James Kimbrough, all of Mt. Jewett and John Moffett of Hazlehurst were hustled to the county jail and charged with disorderly conduct.

Kind hearted lawmen and a justice of the peace saw to it the five got a speedy hearing. They paid their fines and got to the church on time.

At 10 a.m. David Jefford was wed in St. Joseph Church to Jacqueline Sue King.

Pennsylvania Usury Law Said Badly in Need of Overhaul

HARRISBURG (AP) — The state Secretary of Banking said Tuesday his office will push for a "badly needed" overhaul of the state's 110-year-old usury law to "stem the flow of lendable funds seeking higher (interest) rates" in other states.

Secretary G. Allen Patterson said his department was preparing a "meaningful Pennsylvania Usury Bill" and would seek Gov. Shafer's backing to offer it during the 1969 session of the General Assembly.

The present usury act, passed in 1858, provides for a legal interest rate of 6 per cent per year but has been made ineffective to state Supreme and Superior Court decisions, said Patterson.

The current situation, said Patterson, is that "some legal authorities" believe the court rulings "give most lenders in Pennsylvania clear authority to charge any rate of interest which a borrower will agree to pay."

A number of exemptions passed since the original law was enacted, would be continued under the Department of Banking's proposal, Patterson said.

Among them would be loans to corporations, mortgages issued by FHA or VA guarantees or insurance, loans in excess of $50,000 and small loan company loans.

Patterson said, "I am in favor of a meaningful 'Pennsylvania Usury Bill' which will provide that the legal rate of interest be 6 per cent per annum and that the lawful rate of interest shall be 8 per cent provided there is an express contract in writing between the lender and the borrower."

The 1858 act sets the interest rates at 6 per cent but stipulations for recovery of rates in excess of the maximum are virtually unenforceable by modern standards, Patterson pointed out. His proposed act, he said, would include a penalty provision entitling the borrower to recover the interest paid plus a sum equal to the interest paid.

"Within the past several months, all of the states bordering Pennsylvania as well as many other states throughout the country have enacted more realistic usury statutes which permit lenders to charge a higher interest rate than lenders in Pennsylvania may charge," the secretary said.

This is causing lenders within the state to seek loans in other states "thus resulting in an outflow of funds needed in the Commonwealth," he said.

A higher legal interest rate would help stem this trend, he said, while his proposal would also add a much-needed penalty clause for usury.

Patterson, in a speech Monday, asked the Pennsylvania Savings and Loan League to support his proposal. Earlier at the league's annual convention here this week, the league's president, Thomas Matthews of Philadelphia, gave his personal endorsement to a usury law re-empowering.

"An increase in interest rates would accelerate the lending activities of savings and loan associations as well as other lenders on residential property, enabling them to accommodate more prospective homeowners; reduce the possibility of housing shortages and strengthen the state's economic growth," Matthews said.

Matthews pointed out that the legal rate in Pennsylvania for FHA and VA loans is 7 1/2 per cent. "Why shouldn't we have at least that much on conventional loans?" he asked.

Earlier this year, savings and loan associations were granted permission to charge a 1 per cent premium on 6 per cent loans for five years.

CERTIFICATE OF APPRECIATION

An Action Course in Practical Politics, sponsored by Warren County Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday mornings, was concluded Oct. 15 at Northwest Savings & Loan hospital-ity room. A certificate of appreciation was Borough firefighters handled 21 calls last month, laying 100 feet of hose, traveling 45.1 miles and consuming seven hours and 29 minutes. Valuation involved totaled $1,600 but actual fire loss was listed at $100. There were calls for 12 investigations and firemen conducted 70 inspections. The pnelator made three runs. Fire drills were held in all borough schools. Three members of the department were in Clearfield to attend the Institute on Fire Control and Evacuation. Two others attended the Pennsylvania State Fire Training School in Lewisport.

Warren borough in September remained free of any communicable diseases. The health officers paid 68 visits with four nuisances abated. Various establishments were inspected and one case of dog bite investigated.

Among the duties performed last month by the local public works department was demolition of a house on Oak st. and three garages on Cone-wango ave. Litter baskets were emptied 12 times, 176 street markers were painted and lettered, 195 tons of gravel hauled for parking lots, 200 feet of sewer laid and 157 miles of streets swept.

September activities noted by the borough parks and playgrounds department showed that about 120 yards of topsoil was hauled into the Washington Park picnic area, graded, preparatory for seeding. Construction of storage and restroom facilities at Beatty playground were completed and surrounding area graded and seeded. All playground water facilities were drained and winterized. Two dead street trees were taken down.

Chapter officers for 1969 were elected Saturday at the annual meeting of Allegheny Valley Chapter of Credit Unions. Among the principal speakers were Assemblyman William W. Allen from Tidoute and Assemblyman Victor Westerberg of Kane. Leo Gleese of Warren was named a director. The next monthly meeting of the group will be held Nov. 16 at the Elks Club in Kane.

Warren County Humane Society has asked borough council to consider a contribution towards its efforts. The request was referred to the finance chairman. The Society, in most instances, finds homes for dogs confined to the pound.

A young Air Force officer from Titusville was recently decorated with eight military medals at Griffith AFB, N.Y. for action during his recently completed combat tour in South East Asia. First Lt. William C. Savage Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. William C. Savage, RD 2, Titusville, received the Distinguished Flying Cross and seven awards of the air medal.

Borough police in September handled 606 calls by phone from persons requesting information. Officers answered 128 calls, conducted 23 minor investigations and 13 major. Stolen goods were recovered in the amount of $60.88. Money was guarded in transit on 14 occasions and seven fire calls were answered. Four doors were found open or unlocked; nine transients or overnight lodgers were recorded and three street lights reported out. Police gave 10 talks.

No charges were filed as a result of a two-car traffic accident which occurred Monday near the intersection of Pennsylvania ave. e. and Parker st. Property damage was estimated at $300 to cars operated by Betty L. Jenkins, Star Route, Sheffield and John R. Carmody, RD 1, Clarendon, according to official police reports.

The window of a new entrance to the Market Basket Family Center in Kane was blasted by a 12-gauge shotgun at about 10:15 p.m. Sunday. The pellets crazed the glass into thousands of particles which remained intact until the door was opened. When Jack Bell, meat manager, opened the door Monday morning, the glass particles fell completely to the entrance.

Zurn Industries Buys Pipe Firm

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Lamar Pipe Co., which has headquarters in Grand Rapids and plants in three other Michigan cities, announced Tuesday it has been acquired by Zurn Industries Inc., of Erie, Pa.

The purchase will be made by an exchange of 176,150 shares of Zurn for all stock of Lamar, reported J. Wesley Corson, Lamar president.

Zurn, whose stock sold at the New York Stock Exchange Monday for $39.75 a share, is a designer and builder of pollution abatement equipment and systems.

Lamar has 225 employees and its plants outside of Grand Rapids are at Grand Haven, Jackson and Saginaw. Lamar stockholders must approve the transaction. Wolverine Industries of Grand Rapids originally intended to purchase Lamar, but reportedly Wolverine's board of directors decided against the move.

Oil City Woman Is Victimized

OIL CITY — A large sum of money was taken from a woman resident recently in what police call a confidence game.

Police said the Oil City woman received a telephone call from a man who said he was an auditor at her bank. He told her the bank was investigating the embezzling of funds from her account.

The caller emphasized the need for strict confidence and by smooth talking persuaded the woman to bring her bank book to the phone. He learned the amount of her balance, then asked her to make a large withdrawal of cash, to help the bank catch the culprit.

The victim was told that a "Mr. Smith" would come to her home to collect the money after she had withdrawn it. He would take the money with him, she was told, record the serial numbers of the bills, then re-deposit it.

She was promised the bank would pay her $500 for her cooperation.

The woman told police she fell for the swindle. The entire transaction, from the first phone call to the short visit by a stranger who took her money with him, was completed within three hours, she said.

She became suspicious the next day and phoned her bank, who then called police.

The police recommend that anyone in the area receiving a call from a person claiming to be an official of their bank should get in touch with the bank immediately.

Area Motorists Have Licenses Suspended

Nine Warren County and area motorists have had their operators' licenses suspended according to reports from the Bureau of Traffic Safety, dated Sept. 23 and Sept. 30.

They are: Nancy A. Roberti, Youngsville, 60 days, effective Sept. 6, failure to stop at the scene of an accident; Richard A. Weatherly, Union City, 60 days, effective July 26, authorization for suspension of privilege to apply for operator's license or learner's permit; John A. Thompson, RD 1, Tidoute, effective Sept. 25, license or plate violation.

Also: Edward J. Bedow, Titusville, 60 days, effective Sept. 24, speeding; Michael R. Geer, RD 2, Union City, indefinite, effective Aug. 8, failure to post security; no public liability insurance; William C. Lord, Union City, one year, effective Oct. 2, driving during suspension.

Earl J. Anthony, Titusville, until Nov. 6, 1969, effective Sept. 6, failure to stop at the scene of an accident; Richard A. Weatherly, Union City, 60 days, effective July 26, authorization for suspension of privilege to apply for operator's license or learner's permit; Keith V. Stewart, Marienville, three months, effective Sept. 16, license or plate violation.

A GENUINE GOOD OLD FASHIONED HAYRIDE is all set for this Friday, October 18th, for members of the Welcome Wagon Club . . . This is one of the few old time recreations that can be remembered by generation after generation, and the question "Remember When?" not lost on the youth of today . . . though it will take the passing of time to create the path of sweet nostalgia. The hayride will last about two hours, beginning at Anderson's Farm where all will meet at 8 p. m. Afterward there will be pizza and refreshments at Oak View. Those who can't make the hayride are welcome to meet everyone there around 10 p. m. Call Ginny Watt at 723-0926 for reservations and further information no later than tonight. Also, if cancellations are necessary, call in. One more word, wear your warmest clothing.

A HARVEST DINNER on Thursday night will be enjoyed by the members of St. Joseph's Altar Society in the social rooms of the school. Each one will bring a tureen and table service; Mrs. Dan Lyons and her committee will serve coffee and rolls . . . Special guests for the evening will be the Honorary Members. The regular business meeting will be held after dinner with the president, Mrs. Ben Occhulzo presiding . . . A social hour will bring the evening to its conclusion.

CORSAGES WERE PRESENTED to Mrs. Richard McClain and Mrs. Alan H. Buerkle of the Association of College Women by the president of the group, Miss Christine Hurd, at the October meeting this week. The two were honored because they are the originators of the very lucrative book sale which is held in conjunction with the community's Sidewalk Festival each autumn. The money earned thusly by the College Club each year brings a tidy sum which goes into its Scholarship Fund . . . Another highlight of the evening was the presence of twenty-seven high school senior girls and the special program presented by recent college graduates, Marjorie Johnson, Cecelia Musante, Nancy Lanman and Sandra Arnold who explained the advantages and opportunities available at each of their colleges. Mrs. Richard McClain was the hostess for refreshments served from a tea table centered with an arrangement of autumn flowers.

RESERVATIONS MUST BE IN NO LATER THAN THIS FRIDAY for the annual Awards Banquet at Blueberry Hill Golf Club. The dinner is scheduled for Saturday, October 19th, preceded by a social hour at 5:30 and the serving of hors d'oeuvres . . . Dinner will be served at 7. To make reservations call the Inn at 757-9991.

THE GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY of Mr. and Mrs. Malven (Helen) Bowser of 110 Oak street, Sheffield, will be observed on Sunday, October 20th, at the family residence from 2 to 5 o'clock. Hosts will be their children, Mr. and Mrs. Neal (Barbara) Brindley of Knoxville, Penna., and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bowser of Oil City . . . All relatives, neighbors and friends are invited.

THE ANNUAL HARVEST HAM SUPPER & BAZAAR this Saturday in the Tiona Church is sponsored by its Ladies Aid Society and the Golden Rule Class. Serving, in comfortable generous country style, will be from 5 p. m. until the last hungry patron is satisfied. Mrs. Pearl McClellan is general chairman, and Mrs. Edward Currie is chairman of the dining room committee . . . The bazaar, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Kenneth Clapp, will feature all kinds of homebaked goods, many kinds of gift items, and linens. The supper tickets are $1.75 adults; $1 for children 6 to 12 years of age; and, children under 6, no charge. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When my husband was courting me, 18 years ago, I fell in love with his brother. It was too late to call off the wedding so I married Arnold knowing he was not the one for me. We have children, 16, 14 and 10.

My brother-in-law and I have been seeing each other secretly all these years. Nobody has the faintest idea we are in love. He, of course, has never married. Now we want a life together and this is why I'm writing.

Please don't tell me to forget him. We've tried separation but it doesn't work. I'm not asking WHAT to do, just how to dissolve my marriage in the simplest, least hurtful way. I want to make it clear that Arnold has been a good husband -- honorable, decent, faithful and hardworking, but I don't love him and I want to be free to marry the man I do love. How? How? How? -- ANONYMOUS

DEAR AN: If you want to divorce a man who has been faithful, decent, honorable and hardworking after 18 years and three children, you'll have to do it without my help.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For three years I stalled when my husband asked me if his elderly father could make his home with us. I gave in a year ago when I saw how depressed he was because of the poor relationship between him and his daughter with whom he was living.

Papa is over 80 now and I am a nervous wreck. I know he tries to be cooperative and not get in my way. This only adds to my guilt. Many small things about him annoy me, but his eating habits drive me crazy. His slurping, chomping and gulping can be heard three rooms away. He dunks everything in coffee even though he still has his own teeth.

I am embarrassed in front of company and I play the radio during mealtime to drown out the noise. I find myself avoiding soup, spaghetti and celery when I plan menus. It's getting ridiculous.

Is there a solution, Ann -- or am I doomed forever? -- DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

DEAR D.L.L.: It's a noble thing you're doing and it's unfortunate that your kindness is bringing you anxiety and frustration instead of satisfaction and joy.

On the outside chance that your irritation with the old gentleman is rooted in hostility toward your husband, have a chat with a therapist. You can't lose and you might learn something.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You gave the right answer to the woman who wanted to know if she should change the name of her son by a former marriage so it would be the same as hers and her second husband's. In that particular case the father was a well-known criminal.

My real dad was no criminal but when he died his parents made Mom promise she wouldn't change my last name. All through school I was asked a million questions. The confusion was awful. My half-brothers and sisters hated it as much as I did.

Just keep on handing out common-sense advice and tell those who disagree with you to go climb a weed. -- AN ADMIRER

DEAR AD: Some of my best friends disagree with me. But you were sweet to write and I thank you.

Ethel Mary Kershaw Is Bride Of Eugene Jerome Thomas

Ethel Mary Kershaw and Eugene Jerome Thomas were married in the Warren Wesleyan Church in the presence of the immediate families on Saturday, October 14, at 9 o'clock evening service. The Rev. Fay S. Humphries, pastor, read the double ring rites. Organ music was provided by Bill Campbell of Warren.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kershaw of 45 Weller road, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Laura Thomas of 4 Scott Run road, Warren, and the late Mr. Raymond Thomas.

Escorted on the arm of her father, the bride wore a white floor length gown of white Chantilly lace and Karate silk. The lace bodice had a high ruffled neckline and long sleeves with ruffles at the wrists. Her veil of silk illusion was caught to a crown of white silk braid with pearl trim and she carried an old fashioned nosegay of white roses with white carnations, white daisies and white gladioli florets.

Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Ellen Kershaw, in a long gown of gold satin with gold chiffon. Her veil was attached to a matching braid headpiece with flower trim and she also carried an old fashioned nosegay of yellow roses, with white carnations, daisies and gladioli florets.

The best man was Robert Nyquist, uncle of the groom. Gary Hubbard was the usher.

The mother of the groom wore a two piece suit in light blue with white accessories, and the mother of the bride also chose blue in a jacket costume with brown accessories. Both had corsages of red roses.

The reception was held in the Kershaw residence with the immediate families attending. Decorations were carried out in white and silver with a two tier wedding cake with a miniature bride and groom topping it. Aides were Sue Capron, Sherry Capron, Cindy Capron, all nieces of the groom. Each was presented a pink carnation corsage.

For traveling to West Virginia, the new Mrs. Thomas wore a princess style dress in light brown with dark brown accessories. Upon their return, the newlyweds will reside in North Warren.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Warren Area High School, and is employed as a secretary in the Bureau of Employment Security. The groom attended Warren Area High School before enlisting in the U.S. Marine Corps in May of 1966.

Philadelphia Convention To Be Attended By Local Nurses

Prominent registered nurses from this area have been elected as delegates to the 64th annual statewide convention of the Pennsylvania Nurses Association, according to an announcement by Mrs. Ruth Acks, R.N., of Warren State Hospital, president of the Warren County district of the association and also a delegate. The other delegates are Mrs. Myrl Lawson, R. N. of Warren State Hospital; Mrs. Delphine McFate, R. N. of Warren State Hospital's adolescent unit; and Mrs. Norma Coombs R.N. of the Keystone Nursing Home.

Meeting at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia from October 28 through November 1, nurses from all parts of the state will discuss professional matters, elect officers, and take action to guide the progress of nursing for the benefit of the patients throughout the state.

"A major concern of nurses is the understaffing of qualified professional nurses for hospitals throughout the state. This problem has many factors. One is the need to recruit young people into the nursing profession. The second is to improve the working and salary conditions so that current nurses can be retained in their jobs and so that the profession will be attractive to the prospective recruit. The third is that the inactive nurse be motivated to return to practice. The association is actively working on all these matters and they will be a focus of attention of the delegates at the coming convention," said Mrs. Acks. The Pennsylvania Nurses Association is one of the oldest and largest state constituents of the American Nurses' Association, and has its headquarters in Harrisburg.

Here's a simple way to make deviled eggs. Add 1/4 cup crumbled Blue cheese, 1/4 cup dairy sour cream and 1/2 teaspoon vinegar to the yolks of six hard-cooked eggs.

Sophomore James W. Potter, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Potter of Warren, has been named to Phi Eta Sigma fraternity at Kalamazoo College in Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Mr. Potter was also among those who were recognized at the annual Honors Day Convocation for having completed the 1967-68 academic year with high honors. His grade average was 3.75 or better.

Douglas James Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Thompson of 106 Highland avenue, Youngsville, is enrolled as a student in Asbury Theological Seminary, Wilmore, Ky., in a course of study leading to the Master of Divinity degree. Mr. Thompson is a graduate of Youngsville High School and Houghton College. Upon completion of his studies he plans to engage in the ministry.

Asbury is a graduate school of theology, fully accredited by the American Association of Theological Schools. Graduates serve 43 denominations in the 50 States, and the District of Columbia, also 42 foreign countries.

Dale Schmaeder, a Freshman at Mansfield State College has also been selected as a member of the college's Marching and Symphonic Band. The band is under the direction of Donald A. Stanley, the associate director is Richard N. Talbot.

David Flick of Warren, a sophomore at Mansfield State College, majoring in Music Education, has been selected as a member of the college's Marching and Symphonic Band. He was selected for membership following auditions held during the registration period.

The marching and symphonic band performs at all home football games and for the annual homecoming parade. The marching band also plans to accompany the football team to Bloomsburg State and Brockport State games this fall.

Lutheran Church Women Elect Officers For 1969 - 1970 Term

The following officers were elected to serve the Lutheran Church Women of St. Paul's Lutheran Church for the 1969-70 term: President, Mrs. Howard Ristau; vice president, Mrs. Robert Gustafson; secretary, Miss Patty Welsh; treasurer, Mrs. David Woods. The elections were held at the regular monthly meeting of the group in the church parlors.

The November 4th meeting will have Miss Helene Harder as the guest speaker. She has recently returned as missionary to Japan, where she supervised Christian kindergartens and was engaged in evangelistic work among students, women and children.

A very interesting and informative program was given by Miss Fannie Sainker of Kane on the "Customs of Judaism". Hostesses for the evening were: Mrs. Alice Peterson, Mrs. Harry Bancroft, Mrs. Clarence Henrikson, Miss Shirley Johnson, Miss Hilma Pearson, Miss Sigrid Pearson and Miss Katherine Peterson.

Wisconsin Pastor Starts 'Idea Center'

"People who have spare time available should put it to use in helping others who are less fortunate than they are". This is the conviction that caused Pastor D. L. Handt of the Christian Assembly Church of Sloughten, Wisconsin, to look for new ways to minister to the elderly, shut-ins, lonely, and others out of the main-stream of community life.

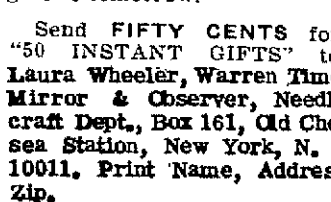

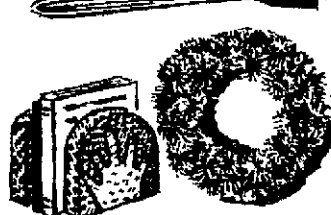

Originally initiating a Friendship Center to befriend the lonely by Mail, the group has now started an "Idea Center" to exchange ideas among those who desire to dedicate a portion of their time in service to God and their fellow men.

Typical ideas shared are writing letters to hospitalized servicemen in Vietnam, sending thoughtful sympathy messages to people in the community who have been bereaved, and starting activity clubs for exceptional children.

Pastor Handt says the group is always looking for new ideas, and new people to share the ideas with. "There are no obligations, financial, or otherwise," he says. "It is simply people creatively sharing their Christian love with those around them."

Legend has it that cheese was discovered thousands of years ago by an Arab who started off on a long journey carrying milk in a pouch made of a sheep's stomach. The enzymes in the sheep's stomach, the heat of the sun and the joggling of the camel turned the milk into the snowy white curd of cheese and the thin liquid we call whey. Actually, historians believe that both butter and cheese were developed shortly after the domestication of the cow — about 9000 B.C.

Who ever heard of frozen cheese? We did. It's true, you CAN freeze your cheese. If you have a firm cheese like Cheddar or Swiss or Gouda, you CAN store it in your freezer. Wrap pieces one pound or less in moisture-vapor-proof material. When you want to use the cheese, thaw it slowly in the refrigerator.

Ever notice that some ice cream cones have flat bottoms and can stand up by themselves? That's so artistic people like you can bring 'em to life! Central WCTU Meeting Held In Methodist Church

At the recent meeting of the Central WCTU in Dunham parlors of the First United Methodist Church, the theme of prayer was used in devotions stressing the virtue of obedience and Moses. Mrs. William Muir led this period of the meeting. Mrs. John McInturff presided at the business session, during which Twila McDowell, delegate to the Youngsville Workshop, gave an interesting talk on county work.

For the program Mrs. Ruth Crooks read "The Law and You"; a letter from Billy Graham was also read. Mrs. Ruth Lindquist sang "When I Go The Last Mile of the Way," with Mrs. McInturff the accompanist.

The next county meeting will be in Sugar Grove. For the Erie convention, Mrs. Ruth Crooks was named delegate. The National Convention will be held in Indiana. The closing prayer was given by Mrs. Isabelle Rachael.

Delegates Attend VFW Aux. Smethport District Meeting

district chairman for the event.

This year also, the district will play Santa Claus to Cottage No. 10 seventh grade boys at the school. Auxiliaries are reminded to send their contributions to the district treasurer early since all gifts must be purchased, wrapped and mailed before December 1.

The department's Cancer program was reviewed by the district chairman, Maxine Glander, Auxiliary 212 Bradford. The first obligation on the department program is to make a contribution of $5000.00 to the Amelia C. Kane Tumor Clinic at Shady Side Hospital in Pittsburgh. The district program will coincide with this. The auxiliaries are urged to set up their programs early and work hard so that all the obligations can be met; the total membership for District 19 is 988. Membership Chairman Pauline Winger, Auxiliary 464 Old City gave her program and announced the awards that will be given. The district will host two housemothers, Mrs. Dorsey and Mrs. Shively, from the National Home at Eaton Rapids, Michigan, from October 17 through 20. They will appear in Old City, Franklin and Warren, bringing with them a film on life at the home. The film will be shown at the Post Home in Old City on October 17 following a tureen dinner at 6:30 p. m. National Home Chairman Ethel Murphy gave the needs on household items for the Pennsylvania Homes and $50 was given toward this program.

The needs of the hospital chairman at the Erie Veterans and Erie Soldiers and Sailors Hospitals were presented. A five dollar donation was made to each of these.

District No. 19 Veterans of Foreign Wars presented the Scotland School Chairman with a check for $108.85 to be used for the Christmas party in December.

South West North East
1 ♠ 2 ♥ 3 ♠ Pass
4 ♠ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♥
Failure to maintain complete control of the play by the declarer led to the defeat of South's four spade contract.

West opened the king of hearts and the ace was played from dummy. A small spade to declarer's king drew the outstanding trumps and, once in his hand, South led the jack of diamonds for a finesse. East won the trick with the king, and a club shift thru the declarer enabled West to win two club tricks. He then cashed the queen of hearts to defeat the contract.

North and South agreed at the conclusion of the deal that they had been the victims of an unfortunate break in finding every card adversely located. In point of fact, however, the declarer had it in his power to make his four spade contract against the actual division of the cards.

Since it is desirable to keep East out of the lead in order to protect his club holding from attack, South should endeavor to control the play. It is suggested that he permit West's king of hearts to hold the opening lead and then win the heart continuation. After trumps are drawn, South may play the jack of diamonds; however he should go up with dummy's ace, refusing the finesse. Now the ten of hearts is led and, when East shows out, South discards his last diamond—permitting West to win the trick.

If West returns a diamond, North's ten forces out the king and declarer ruffs. The queen of diamonds now provides a parking place for a losing club. If West shifts to a club, South's king automatically becomes established.

Observe that the recommended play cannot cost. If East is able to cover the ten of hearts, declarer ruffs and leads a small diamond toward dummy. Even if West should turn up with the king of diamonds, where it was originally finessable, he can do no better than to cash the ace of clubs for the third and final defensive trick.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1968

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Needed now: Patience in labor and domestic issues, perseverance in tedious, humdrum tasks. Emphasize your dynamic personality.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Don't oppose others too quickly, nor before you hear all facts. You could be misconstrued. Generally helpful influences.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Your morale should be high now. Try to firm up weak areas and assist others to do the same. Don't miss out on those "little" opportunities.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—As you proceed, cautiously but fearfully, you will find the going easier, restrictions growing fainter. But dally or turn to non-essentials, and the way will thicken with obstruction.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Pick no quarrels— which does not mean you should not defend principles. Just don't haggle or be eager for battle. Rule out overspending, rash decisions.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—You may find it a complex, contrary "problem" day in part. Intrusions, interference likely. Handle all with diplomacy.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Mixed planetary influences. You may experience some seemingly ungovernable moments, areas: Handle with astuteness and deliberation. Fine advantages also indicated.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—Take credits where offered, and take suggestions and instructions from due authority—all with the dignity that earns respect. There are a few obstacles, tricky spots to overcome.

How to Keep Well

(c) 1968 By The Chicago Tribune

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

CROSSROADS OF TIME

There comes a time when every man realizes youth has flown the coop. The emotional reactions to anticipated old age can be a source of stress. Some individuals go through this transitional period gracefully; others, reluctantly and more so, when they fight against impossible odds to preserve the illusion of youth.

To the middle-aged man retirement is too close for comfort. His spouse also realizes that life has already poured out its most important gift, and she, too, fears the specter of old age. This state of mind can create medical problems. The best defense is knowledge of self. It is most important to guard against our weaknesses.

The emotional manifestations that arise in this period of life usually represent exaggerations of the personality and characteristics of an earlier age. Those who know themselves are aware of their weaknesses.

Stable individuals evaluate situations as they really are and not as they appear through rose-colored glasses. Above all, be aware of and try to deal effectively with the emotional conflicts and tensions that all of us face. Blaming others is fraught with danger.

Unforeseen problems may strike. We refer to illness, business reversals, or losing a promotion. Young people can afford to treat failures and disappointments casually because time is on their side. The middle-aged have lost this cushion. The physician may be able to offer a temporary crutch at this time to lessen the depression and help the individual over the hump.

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

TOMORROW: Gallbladder in Heart Disease.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

PREVENTING HEPATITIS

Mrs. T. writes: My husband just returned to work after a long siege of hepatitis. What precautions should we take to prevent another attack?

REPLY

Because of immunity, a second attack seldom occurs after the first has subsided completely. Be sure he gets sufficient rest during the next few months. He should decline all social invitations and avoid unnecessary business commitments. Liquor in any form is taboo. Strenuous exercise is not advisable and he should eat a nourishing diet.

LOW BLOOD COUNT

A reader writes: What is meant by a low blood count and why is it down?

REPLY

A low blood count is associated with a reduction in the number of blood cells or hemoglobin. Anemia is an example of this condition. The decline usually stems from bleeding, too little blood formation, or increased blood cell destruction.

ARTHRITIS OF RIBS

A reader writes: Can arthritis of the ribs cause angina?

REPLY

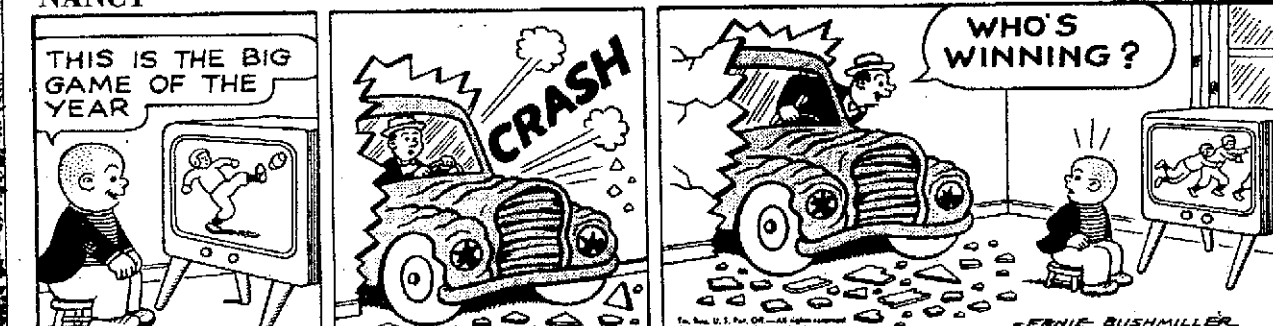

If you refer to angina pectoris, no. Distress resembling this condition may occur in arthritis of the connecting joints between the ribs and breastbone or between the ribs and the vertebrae, especially when the involved areas are on the left side and at the same level as the heart.

POPCORN JACK-O-LANTERN

A festive decoration for fall is this Popcorn Jack-O-Lantern. Add some Indian Popcorn Ears.

The word for cattle in Gaelic is "feah," which ultimately became the English word fee.

A virus preserved for 30 years in a test tube in one laboratory could still kill rats.

EARLY START

CENTRAL CITY, Ky. (AP)—Central City held a 1-0 lead over Graham High School recently, even before the basketball game started.

The home team scored on a technical foul because the numbers on the Graham players' uniforms didn't match the numbers given the official scorekeeper.

Symbols of Harvest Season

It's October; so roll up your sleeves, slip into a mama-san apron and start popping! That's right, start popping some popcorn for making two familiar symbols of the harvest season -- this Jack-O'-Lantern and these Indian Popcorn Ears. Don't lose the recipe for these molded popcorn confections, because they'll see you through a month of fundays; a homecoming dinner, the church bazaar, National Popcorn Week (October 24-31), school parties, and the last day of the month--Halloween.

If this sounds like too much pop-art for you to handle, call in the children as kitchen crew. They can pop the popcorn while you cook the fruity glaze. Many hands will make light work and fun of shaping the mixture into ears of Indian corn while you do the plump Jack-O'-Lantern. Make sure, too, that everyone works with hands buttered or slightly wet to avoid being burned by the hot syrup.

Or try this centerpiece idea--have the kiddie-crew mold quickly ten small pumpkins. Supply an assortment of edibles -- like gumdrops, small colored candles, candy corn, raisins, red cinnamon candies, jelly beans and licorice strings --for the pumpkins' faces. Let each artist go to work and may the best popcorn Jack-O'-Lantern win! Then, on the table, they can join together in a circle five pumpkins with toothpicks or a little bit of hot syrup; stack four more on top of these, joined in the same way; and top with the last pumpkin -- for a pyramid. Fall leaves and the Popcorn Ears could be placed around the base of this pumpkin pyramid.

Then you'll have to repeat the popping and glazing procedures in order to make the ears of Indian corn plus some for your hungry helpers. Seeing, hearing and smelling the popcorn pop will bewitch them -- no amount of black magic or witchcraft will keep them from these delicious decorations. Serve your pop-goblins some cider, too, and they won't haunt you on All Hallow's Eve!

It's October, so greet your family, their friends, the neighbors with an unusual popcorn pumpkin in a patch of popcorn ears. IT'S A GREAT MONTH -- A GRAND TIME FOR A GREAT SPOOKFEST: HELLO, HALLOWEEN!

JACK-O'-LANTERN AND INDIAN POPCORN EARS
6 quarts warm unsalted popped popcorn

GLAZE:
2 cups sugar
1 can (8-ounces) orange juice
3/4 cup cranberry juice
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1 teaspoon vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
Small colored candles
Licorice strings
Green gumdrops
Keep popcorn hot and crisp in a 300 degree oven. Combine sugar, fruit juices, corn syrup, vinegar and salt in a heavy saucepan. Bring to a boil; cook over medium heat to hard-boil stage (250 degrees on candy thermometer). Pour glaze in thin stream over popcorn in large buttered bowl and mix well. Working quickly with buttered hands, form two-thirds of mixture into basic shape of a pumpkin. Shape remainder into ears of corn. To apply finishing touches: Heat a little corn syrup, brush on corn ears, press small candies firmly in place to resemble Indian corn; cover with green paper napkins or cellophane to resemble shucks. Make pumpkin's eyes, nose and mouth from licorice strings and apply as above; cut gumdrop to make a stem. Makes 1 Jack-o'-Lantern and 6 ears of corn.

"Why should the oppressed American voter be forced to choose the lesser of two evils? ... Our new party offers you a choice of at least three!"

what does A&P stand for?

(Besides The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., Inc.)

Fairness, honesty, dependability and quality.

Our founder established these business guides for A&P over 100 years ago.

It is from this basic foundation that so many of our current-day policies have grown:

Our Raincheck policy, for example, which assures you that you will never miss out on an advertised item.

Our policy of packaging meats, that guarantees that the side you can't see is equal to or better than the side you can see.

Our complete and unconditional guarantee of anything you buy at A&P, no matter who makes it.

Our dedication to quality in the production of our own brands. Quality standards so high that we guarantee any product bearing the A&P Seal is equal to or better than the nationally famous brands.

You can probably sum it up in one word, "CARE." We care about you.

When you think about it... shouldn't A&P be your store?

Store is Symbol of Hope For Mentally Retarded

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It's just an old candy-tobacco warehouse in a predominantly black ghetto—but it's a symbol of new hope and a better life for thousands of mentally retarded.

The Philadelphia Association for Retarded Children obtained $185,000 to renovate its two-story Work Training Center. Most of it came from federal grants.

It will provide schooling, diagnostic services, job training and placement for 200 persons. And perhaps handle several times that number every year.

"Like the measles, we want this institution to spread," said Marvin Schwartz, chairman of PARC's training committee. It was started three years ago.

"We hope our workshop and what we do here will become an incentive for other places throughout Pennsylvania and the country."

"People used to take a kid and let him watch television for the rest of his life. The retarded were regarded as apes. We want our training center to be a model so that others can see that the retarded can be helped."

Did You Know?

... Winter fishing is becoming more and more popular, especially in north-central Pennsylvania. A favorite spot is the Little Pine Creek Dam in Lycoming County. You have to be able to brace the cold wintry blasts that swoosh across frozen lakes—but in recent years it hasn't been unusual to see up to 50 men crouched over holes drilled in the ice, hoping to pull out a salmon or trout... The Philadelphia Museum of Art, breaking from a 40-year only-daytime tradition, now stays open Wednesday nights... the enchanted Christmas Village recently on display in Lit Brothers' center city Philadelphia store used 1,500 pounds of artificial snow, had more than 200 life size animated figures and was viewed by more than 100,000 persons...

Cigarettes 'Are' Dangerous to Your Health

To date no nation—and certainly not the United States—has tried to repeat the old mistake of Prohibition for cigarettes. That is simply to say that no nation has tried to make the habit officially illegal.

To try that would probably be impossible. Imagine "smoke-easies." "It's me, Max." The furtive rap on the door.

It sounds funny when put that way. Yet there are those who know the damage wrought by the cigarette, who have suggested Prohibition as a far-out possibility. Fortunately they are in the minority—a minority even smaller than that of the "witnesses" used by those who deny the danger of the cigarette itself.

The Prohibition experiment was tried once. It didn't work. It went against the American grain. It proved far more feasible, in the long run, to educate the population as to liquor's use.

The cigarette offers a parallel—but with a difference. Whereas there CAN be a case made for spirits in social, religious and friendly contexts—where they do little if any harm—tobacco in the form of the cigarette is a much younger custom (dating from the mid-19th Century) and one that has few of any redeeming features.

Given the American citizen, and the American nation, Prohibition is, and should be, a dead issue. But given the faith in democracy implicit in America, education can work wonders.

Thus, Senators Kennedy and Magnuson have urged that the warning label which appears on cigarette packages today, CAUTION: CIGARETTE SMOKING MAY BE HAZARDOUS TO YOUR HEALTH, should be strengthened to DANGER: CIGARETTE SMOKING CAN PRODUCE DEATH FROM CANCER AND OTHER DISEASES. Forty Congressmen under the leadership of John E. Moss of California would similarly strengthen the label and require the warning and tar and nicotine levels in all advertising.

That revision would tally far better with the facts. Yet the fact that even the original, milder warning found its way into print is a story in itself.

The Report to the Surgeon General, produced by a distinguished panel of experts (half of whom were smokers themselves), was published on the 11th of January, 1964. By July, 1965, legislation had been enacted in Congress and signed by President Johnson which required the appearance of the warning label on cigarette packages. The timing may seem slow—but for those who know the ways of legislative bodies, it was amazingly quick work.

The Federal Communications Commission ruling in June of 1967 was a logical sequel to the Surgeon General's Report and the labeling act. Simply, it required radio and television stations to apply the "fairness doctrine" to cigarette commercials, as well as to political announcements. Having decided that political parties had a right to reply to one another's statements, the F.C.C. followed suit by judging that a subject so controversial as cigarettes deserved an open hearing. The American Cancer Society "non-commercial" showing children in an attic trying old clothes is one result of the F.C.C.'s ruling. The more children love to imitate the elders. So it pays for parents not to smoke. All the less chance of one's children picking up the habit.

That the cigarette, PA: ROSA, ROKO, SAVUKE, S: RIYAH, or TBAKO is also a killer is becoming more understood each year.

The question at the heart of the problem: What do we do with individuals, as the individuals who make up nations—about it?

Old Stove Round-Up the "GREAT DAY" band-wagon is the NEW ROPER Gas self-cleaning Range

Get on the band-wagon... it's the new non-partisan Roper Self-Cleaning Gas Range! Disintegrates all residue leaving your oven like brand-new. Oven cleaning worries are left with the previous administration. Just turn on the new cleaning cycle, the oven automatically heats itself to cleaning temperature — there's no outside ventilation needed. No smoke. No odor.

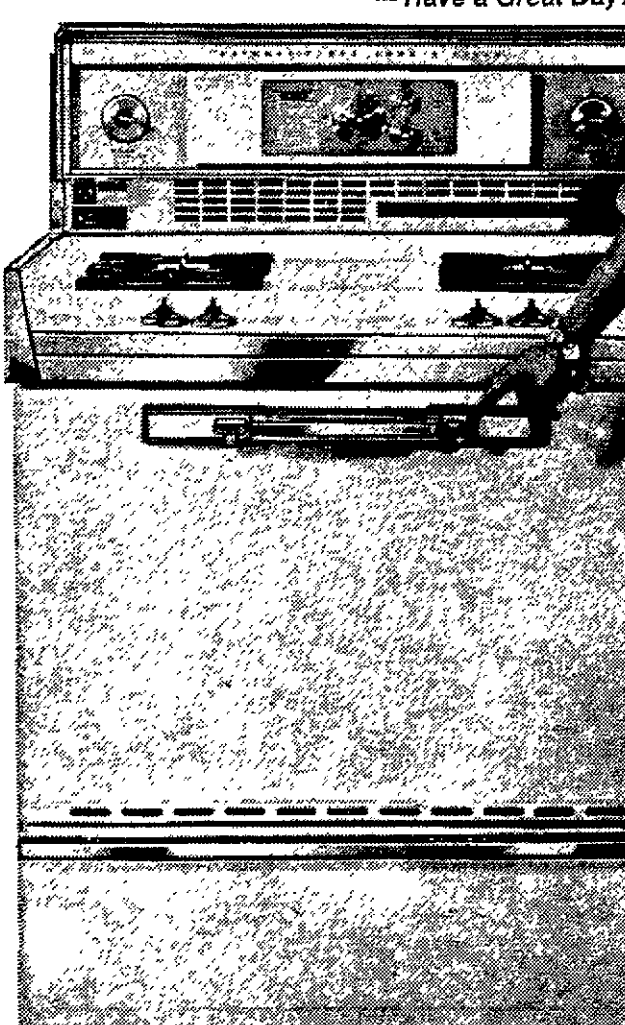

In addition, Gas gives you—

- Infra-Red Broilers for true "charcoal" flavor
- Cook-and-Keep Warm Controls
- Burner-with-a-Brain — no spill overs
- 1001 Temperatures. Choice of 99/100 chefs

No money down — 30 months to pay. All prices include normal installation and service.

YOUR GAS COMPANY salesman or your Gas Appliance Dealer are statesmen who will be delighted to demonstrate the new Roper Self-Cleaning Oven and other Roper Ranges.

Note 1: This account was opened November 14, 1967 by money transferred from Warren County School District.

To the Members of
Warren County Area Vocational-Technical School Board:

We have examined the recorded cash receipts and disbursements of the Warren County Area Vocational-Technical School Board for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1968. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as were required by law or we considered necessary in the circumstances. In our opinion, the accompanying statement of recorded cash receipts and disbursements presents fairly the results of the Warren County Area Vocational-Technical School Board recorded operations for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1968, in conformity with the principles and procedures established in the manual of accounting and related financial procedures for Pennsylvania school systems.
